NAZIS CLAIM BIG VICTORIES

ROOSEVELT WAR POLICY KINDLES CAPITOL REVOLT

Extension of Draft Faces Battle.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 13.—Informed members of congress report signs of an impending general revolt against President Roosevelt's war program on the ground that it contemplates not only shooting warfare but the dispatch of a huge expeditionary force overseas.

Congressional leaders already have told officials of the war department that legislation which it proposed to authorize retention of all army personnel in service indefinitely and to use such personnel anywhere in the world will be defeated unless it is drastically compromised. This information will be imparted to President Roosevelt at a conference with legislative leaders tomorrow.

Full Debate Predicted.

Opponents of the so-called "expeditionary force" legislation assert that it will be considered and debated as tho it were a resolution declaring war.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], leader of the congressional noninterventionists, contends that not more than 15 members of the senate would vote for war.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas says flatly that congress will not pass the bills to remove all restrictions from the use of draftees, National Guardsmen, and other army personnel. Meanwhile Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, is urging a compromise that would in effect destroy the proposed legislation.

George Proposal Set Forth.

Under existing law, draftees and National Guardsmen cannot be sent outside the western hemisphere. Senator George would permit them to be sent to Iceland, but not to other "strategic outposts" which Mr. Roosevelt has pronounced vital to the defense of the western hemisphere, such as the Cape Verde and Azores Islands and Dakar.

The George compromise would permit keeping National Guard troops in federal service beyond one year, the limit under existing law, but draftees could be retained beyond one year only if they enlisted voluntarily.

Charges War Commitments.

Representative George Holden Tinkham [R., Mass.] charged in a statement tonight that President Roosevelt has "shamelessly repudiated" his promises to the American people in order to fulfill war commitments made long ago to Great Britain. Tinkham continued:

"That he had a secret commitment with Great Britain for the 'pooling' of the American fleet with the British fleet in case of war in Europe was revealed by Winston Churchill in parliament as long ago as March 7, 1938, when he stated:

"'Owing to the excellent arrangements which have grown up with the United States of America, and the fact that the United States navy is not being allowed to fall behind British naval expansion in any way, we are, I think, entitled to measure our naval power against the naval power of European countries.

"Stronger than in 1914."

"'We are, therefore, in a far stronger position on sea relative to any navy in Europe, or to any likely combination of navies in Europe, than we were with the much larger fleets we had in 1914.'

"Only one conclusion can be drawn from Mr. Churchill's statement: An understanding had already been reached that the British and American fleets would be 'pooled' in the event of war. This meant war for the United States and the President knew it. He had no moral or legal right to make this commitment. The constitution gives the congress alone the right to declare war. The President did not hesitate to treat the constitution as a mere scrap of paper.

"On Wednesday last Winston Churchill announced the joint occupancy of Iceland by British and American troops and the joint operation of the British and American navies around Iceland, whose waters are infested with hostile submarines. These facts clearly demonstrate that President Roosevelt is pursuing a policy, secretly agreed upon long in advance, of armed intervention of the United States in the present war in Europe and has shamelessly repudiated his promise to the American people."

British, Reds Sign Pact; Call U. S. 'Partner'

MOSCOW, July 13 (AP).—British-Russian agreement for joint action in the war against Germany was announced today.

The United States had been informed of negotiations and is regarded in some Moscow circles as a third partner of the anti-Hitler coalition.

The London and Moscow governments pledged in a two-point document "to render each other assistance and support of all kinds and in all times in the present war against Hitlerite Germany" and to "neither negotiate nor conclude an armistice or a treaty of peace except by mutual agreement."

Cripps and Molotov Sign.

It was signed here yesterday by British Ambassador Sir Stafford Cripps and soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, who, with Premier Joseph Stalin had been in consultation on it for several days.

Sir Stafford went directly from the Kremlin signature ceremony to a reception at the United States ambassador's country house for members of the British missions here, and at that time informed Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt of the conclusion of the agreement.

S. A. Lozovsky, vice commissar for foreign affairs, said at a press conference this afternoon:

"A participant in this powerful coalition, Great Britain has on its side the world's greatest industrial country, the United States. Thus, a really mighty coalition of freedom loving peoples is aligned against Germany and her vassals."

Lozovsky called the agreement "a fraternity of arms."

Stalin Host at Ceremony.

Stalin acted as host at the Kremlin when the agreement was signed, talking cordially to the British guests for an hour while the blue ribbons and red wax seals were being affixed to the Russian and English texts. Toasts then were drunk in Russian made champagne.

The agreement was understood not to affect any other international obligations of the two powers, including Russia's neutrality pact with Japan.

The British-Russian agreement was accompanied by a protocol making it effective immediately on signature and not subject to ratification.

London Press Hails Accord.

LONDON, July 14 [Monday]—(AP).—London morning papers applauded the British-Russian pact today.

The Laborite Herald proclaimed: "Russia becomes our ally," and said the pact would be "greeted with deep and general satisfaction in both countries and, indeed, by all the world other than the supporters and dupes of Hitler."

The Mail predicted Poland would be joined to the pact in a few days.

Informed sources said there was only a shadowy difference between a formal alliance and the joint action agreement concluded between Britain and Russia. Precise diplomatic language classifies the accord as a "joint declaration of policy" and the parties to it as "co-belligerents."

Silent on Extent of Assistance.

British sources were quick to explain that the agreement is not a technical alliance but that that distinction indicated no standoffishness by either party.

Whether it was to be implemented by unified action beyond British shipment of supplies and the current work of British and Russian military and economic missions assigned to Moscow and London respectively was not made clear by the British.

It was reported reliably that the dominions had approved the agreement after full consultations.

The accord was called a step for "practical collaboration" foreshadowed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a June 2 broadcast in which he declared: "Any man or state who fights against the Nazis will have our aid."

Caps Understanding, Says U. S.

Washington, D. C., July 13 (AP).—Diplomatic quarters here expressed the view that the agreement announced today between Great Britain and Russia merely formalized an understanding dating back to the outbreak of Russo-German hostilities.

Constantine Oumansky, Russian ambassador, talked with President Roosevelt Thursday and later told reporters that "all the problems" were discussed.

RUSSIA ADMITS LOSS OF 250,000 MEN IN 22 DAYS

BERLIN, July 13 (AP).—The Nazis tonight pictured the 22 day old campaign against Russia as a decisive triumph, with the great cities of Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev virtually doomed by German panzer [armored] divisions rumbling ever eastward thru ragged gaps in the deep Stalin line and with the massive Red army verging on bewildered collapse.

[A Russian communique today announced the recapture of Zhlobin and Rogachev, two hitherto unmentioned towns on the Dnieper river. This was in a region farther east than the Germans themselves had claimed, so far, to have advanced. Great battles raged all day Sunday on the northern, central, and southwestern fronts, the Russians said. Moscow made the following admissions and claims of losses inflicted in the war to date:

	RUSSIAN.	GERMAN.
Killed and wounded	250,000	1,000,000
Planes	1,900	2,300
Tanks	2,200	3,000

[The Russian description of the war situation will be found on page 2.]

Situation on Three Main Fronts.

Reiterating its special announcement of last night that the Stalin line has been smashed thru at all decisive points, the German high command thus portrayed the situation on the three main fronts:

German tanks advancing toward Leningrad east of Lake Peipus, less than 150 miles southeast of that second city of Russia;

Supplies brought up close behind the "former" Stalin line for an uninterrupted thrust from captured Vitebsk toward Moscow, a scant 300 miles east;

The Dniester river crossed on a wide front in the Ukraine, with German troops northeast of the Dniester pounding at the very gates of Kiev, "the mother of Russian cities."

A strongly fortified zone on the upper reaches of the Dnieper reduced, putting the German forces more than 125 miles east of Minsk.

The Red army so near to disintegration and its communications so snarled by German bombers that it cannot possibly organize any big counterattacks.

Land Route to Moscow.

Capture of Vitebsk, half way between the former line of demarcation in old Poland and Moscow, left open to the speeding panzers a land bridge straight to Moscow.

There are no more natural or artificial barriers on this route, between the upper Dvina, which flows west, and the upper Dnieper, which flows south.

It was expected that one German armored column would drive for Moscow while another sloped off to subdue Smolensk, 80 miles southeast of Vitebsk.

By contrast, on the far northern

GOERING IS REPORTED JAILED BY HITLER IN RUSSIAN BROADCAST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 13.—Air Marshal Hermann Goering, Adolf Hitler's heir designate, has been deposed and imprisoned for opposing the war against Russia, the Moscow propaganda radio reported tonight.

Herman Goering.

As heard by the New York News short wave listening station the soviet announcer said:

"Goering has now fallen into discard. Goering argued against the Russian campaign, saying that the German luftwaffe [air force] had lost too many planes in the Greek and Crete campaigns. Hitler, in a frenzy of rage, called Goering a coward and said he himself would command the luftwaffe.

"Reports have reached Moscow that Himmler [Heinrich Himmler, chief of the gestapo] insisted on putting Goering into a German concentration camp."

THE LEADING SPIRIT

Remove Knox, America First Leaders Plead

The removal of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, "as a man no longer fit to hold his present high office," was demanded here yesterday at a meeting of 118 representatives of the America First committee from key America First chapters thruout the country.

A resolution condemning the conduct of Secretary Knox in advocating intervention of the American navy in the war was approved as the group met in the Palmer House to discuss general policies of the anti-interventionist committee.

Knox, by his outright advocacy of undeclared war, is violating his solemn oath of office, the resolution declared. The group asserted that Knox's recent speeches called for open war on the axis powers without the consent of congress and in violation of the Constitution.

Text of Resolution.

The complete text of the resolution, introduced by Joseph Forshaw, chairman of the St. Louis chapter of the America First committee, read:

"Whereas, the Constitution of the United States provides that congress has the sole power to declare war; and

"Whereas, the secretary of the navy, in public utterances, has advocated that the American navy intervene in the present war now; and

"Whereas such intervention of the American navy would constitute actual and open war without the consent of congress; and

"Whereas, by his solemn oath of office, the secretary of the navy has sworn to uphold the Constitution of the United States;

Praise Senator George.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved: That we, the representatives of chapters of the America First committee from San Diego, Cal., to Boston, Mass., do condemn and repudiate the unauthorized utterances and conduct of the secretary of the navy, and by reason of his outright advocacy of undeclared war, in defiance of the constitution, we do declare it to be the sense of this group that the secretary of the navy is no longer a fit person to hold his present high office and should be removed from that office."

Chairmen of America First chapters in Baltimore, Boston, New York, Bridgeport, Conn., San Diego, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Detroit, and Cincinnati, were among those attending.

Gen Robert E. Wood, national chairman, presided at the closed sessions.

MAZE OF GERMAN TRENCHES FOUND ON FRENCH COAST

A SOUTHEAST COAST TOWN IN ENGLAND, July 13 (AP).—New German defense works on the French coast were disclosed to watchers on the English shore today by the lifting of a heat haze which had long shrouded the channel. At several points between Boulogne and Calais there was evidence of trench works and clusters of new buildings.

The trenches were particularly visible and could be seen stretching up over the coastal hills and disappearing as if they ran some distance inland. South of Boulogne where the coast runs down to Le Touquet beach, the Germans appear to have an elaborate maze of defense emplacements. Thru binoculars the level stretch of beach of the once gay resort could be seen bristling with barbed wire and sandbagged emplacements.

Despite weeks of RAF bombings Boulogne cathedral is still standing in the heart of the old town.

98 Appointed by Gov. Green to State Police

Gov. Green announced yesterday the appointment of 98 men to the state highway police department. The men were selected from a list of those who passed a series of strict intelligence, physical, and adaptability tests prepared by a committee of experts under the leadership of Brig. Gen. T. S. Hammond.

Gen. Hammond.

Gov. Green, T. P. Sullivan, state director of public safety, and Chief Leo Carr plan to make the state police department the finest in the country, they said. The appointees will report tomorrow for an intensive period of schooling and training before being assigned to active duty.

The school will be in the 4-H building at the State Fair grounds in Springfield. Barracks and a mess hall have been prepared and the new policemen will spend the next two weeks there.

Chiefs Are Veterans.

Sullivan is a former chief of the state force and onetime head of the city force of Springfield, and Carr is a veteran of the Chicago police department. They said yesterday the school period will include target practice, first aid training, lectures by lawyers on the legal rights and duties of policemen, motorcycle practice, military formation drills and talks on how to handle criminals.

"We have examined closely the report on every candidate," Gov. Green said. "I am confident an exceptionally fine group of men has been selected to fill the vacancies now existing in the state department. This is the first time the state has ever set up a school for its highway policemen and with the intensive training plans, these men will be fitted to meet the traffic conditions which confront us at this time of the year."

Over 5,700 Apply.

More than 5,700 applicants for police jobs answered the questionnaires sent out by the Hammond committee. Many who answered were eliminated as obviously unfit, and 1,800 were notified to take the written and physical examinations. A board of experts in intelligence and physical standards was set up and 1,500 candidates appeared before it.

Of the 490 who passed the tests, 150 were eliminated after every man was personally interviewed by at least three members of the committee. Gov. Green passed on the qualifications of the 98 named yesterday and directed that future appointments be made from those still remaining on the list.

MARTIN DEMANDS ROOSEVELT QUIT HIDING MISTAKES

Washington, D. C., July 13 (AP).—Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr., [R., Mass.], house minority leader, demanded today that President Roosevelt "take such steps, under his present authority and appropriations, as will break the bottleneck, free the log jams, and get our national preparedness program operating as it should."

Joseph W. Martin Jr.

Martin, in a statement, also asked that "the nation be informed of the real state of the national preparedness" and an end be put to "concealment of mistakes."

The Republican leader said it had been stated by authoritative sources, and not refuted, that "the administration in a full year of armament effort has produced a volume of arms which Germany's Europe could turn out in less than two months and England in about three months."

Double Funeral Conducted for Man, 73, and His Dog

Bloomington, Ill., July 13 [Special].—Double funeral services for Melton Stonebraker, 73 years old, and Sonny Boy, his 15 year old dog, were held today in Farmer City. The funeral wasn't exactly as Stonebraker wanted it, but it followed his wishes as far as the law would permit. He wanted the dog to be buried with him, but it was discovered that would be illegal. So Sonny Boy was buried in a pet cemetery. Stonebraker was found dead Thursday, and the dog, which was blind and deaf, was chloroformed at Stonebraker's request.

80,000 THUNDER THEIR APPLAUSE AT THRILL SHOW

Pay Tribute to Fire and Police Heroes.

THRILL SHOW PICTURES.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

A roaring crowd of 80,000 paid a majestic tribute yesterday to the valorous men of Chicago's police and fire service at the fourth annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field.

It was a spontaneous tribute, in which the throng rose to its feet time after time to cheer the men who guard the city in recognition of their magnificent exhibitions of bravery.

It was a day of waving flags, a day of patriotism, a day of pomp and pageantry. Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan and First Deputy Chief Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney sent their great aerial ladder trucks and all the other monsters of the fire department, that the firemen might show how they protect the city.

The Police Leaders.

Commissioner James P. Allman and Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed police were there with squadrons of swift squad cars, the most daring riders of the motorcycle police, and the mounted policemen.

Chief Roger Shanahan led his park policemen into the field to play their part in the crime dramas and demonstrate their skill in lifesaving.

The red trucks of the fire department and the blue uniforms of the policemen and firemen on the green expanse of Soldiers' field furnished an inspiring setting for one of the great moments of the day, when thousands of boys and girls arose waving American flags to pledge their allegiance to their country. They were led by Philip Maxwell of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, who was master of ceremonies.

The show was presented by the Chicago police and fire departments and the Chicago park district in cooperation with THE TRIBUNE.

The firemen stole the show when they rumbled out upon the field to effect rescues from the lofty fire tower. The park and city police stole it back again with their crime fights.

Choristers Are Cheered.

Anthony J. [Tony] Corcoran's new Firemen Choristers, already known to the W-G-N radio audience, won an ovation in their first appearance before a crowd. The Chicago Police post, American Legion drum and bugle corps, which offered to buy a new hat for every spectator if they failed to perform their precision drill in precisely the 14 minutes allotted to them, marched smilingly off the field—on time to the second.

The Board of Trade post, American Legion band, led by Armin Hand, furnished the musical setting and accompanied Corcoran in "The Star Spangled Banner."

Bright in costumes of green and white, Lieut. William A. Gainer's motorcycle policemen rolled out upon the track to give an exhibition of trick riding. They rode off the field amid thundering cheers in their final act—30 men in a five wheel pyramid, unfurling the American flag.

Fire Insurance Patrol.

Chief Frank C. McAuliffe's fire insurance patrol, established the week before the Chicago fire of 1871, showed how its men coöperate with the fire department in protecting life and property.

The firemen of the bunking act, who go to bed in full view of the crowd and then roll out to dress and go to a fire, won thunderous applause when they sped off the field, fully dressed, in time that was counted in seconds.

Chief John L. Sullivan and Lieut. Kyran Phelan of the detective bureau won the modern gang battle from the gangsters. Leading picked squads armed with every modern crime fighting device, the detective bureau men and Chief Shanahan's park police stormed the barricade behind which the gangsters had taken refuge and captured them.

Dr. Harold P. Sullivan, the fire department surgeon, explained the life saving and first aid work of the park and city police and fire department while the first aid squads demonstrated on the field. Chief Harry K. [Smoky] Rogers of the Western Actuarial bureau was commentator for the fire department drills.

ALL DAY BATTLES RAGE ON 3 FRONTS IN NAZI-RED WAR

Russians Retake 2 Towns in Central Sector.

MOSCOW, July 14 [Monday] (AP).—Soviet Russia announced today a series of gigantic all-day battles with the German invaders in the Pskov, Vitebsk, and Novograd Volynski sectors—the distant approaches to Leningrad, Moscow, and Kiev.

Reporting that in the Sunday-long fighting the Germans had lost new masses of men and material, the soviet information bureau declared:

"In three weeks of heavy fighting, the Germans have lost more than 1,000,000 men killed and wounded, while the soviet forces have lost not more than 250,000. The Germans have lost more than 2,300 aircraft and more than 3,000 tanks."

German planes destroyed on Saturday totaled 131.

Russian losses of 1,900 planes and 2,200 tanks in the same period were acknowledged.

Within 175 Miles of Leningrad.

Vitebsk is about 300 miles west of Moscow; Pskov is at the southern tip of Lake Peipus, 175 miles southwest of Leningrad, and Novograd Volynski is 120 miles west of Kiev in the Ukraine.

[The Germans claimed they were at the gates of Kiev, that Leningrad was imperiled, and that they had smashed open a land path from the Vitebsk region towards Moscow.]

All up and down the front the Russians told of a day of bitter fighting, mentioning particularly that in the northwest—the Leningrad defense area—troops under Marshal Klementi Voroshilov checked the Germans and by stanch resistance repulsed them with heavy losses at some points.

In the west, on the central front, it said Russians under Defense Commissar Marshal S. K. Timoshenko reoccupied the towns of Zhlobin and Rogachev—signifying a gain. These towns are about 140 miles south of Vitebsk on the upper Dnieper river.

Fighting Continues All Day.

In other sectors of the central front fierce fighting continued all day between large infantry and tank forces.

In the southwest the Russians continued operations against motorized and mechanized enemy units, stemming their advance eastward.

In the main, however, the communique did not specifically state the outcome of the great battles, leaving the impression that they still were being waged with all their fury.

The Red army reported that Russian troops had "completely annihilated an enemy motorized regiment" which was trapped Saturday on the southwestern front.

Soviet bombers, were declared to have struck thru the night at German motorized and mechanized invaders and bombed airdromes and other military objectives at two cities in German controled Rumania Jassy, a railroad town in the valley of the Prut river, and Ploesti, the oil field center.

Munitions Ship Blows Up.

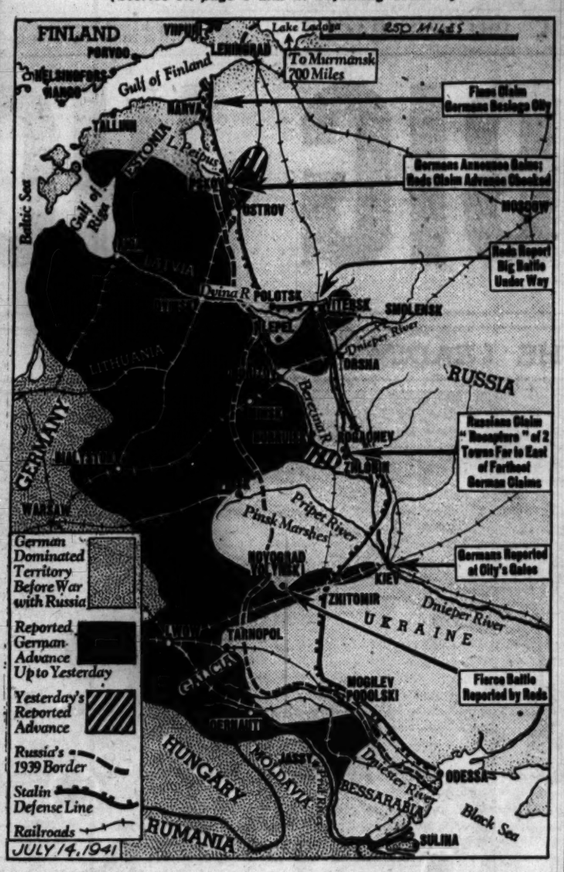
A German steamer laden with ammunition for the Finnish front, a communique said, exploded and sank in the Baltic sea off Memel, Germany's northernmost port, presumably after hitting a mine.

A northern Russian coastal battery was said to have sunk a Finnish torpedo boat and a German troopship which "attempted to land a party on a soviet island."

Red Star declared the original German plan to destroy the Russian air force on the ground had not been achieved and they had failed to gain mastery of the air. It said the Germans were showing a shortage of planes and "replacement is a difficult task."

War's Status as Reported by Foes

(Stories on page 1 and in adjoining column.)



Captions indicate claims made by Germans and Russians in fighting on the Russian front. Russia has admitted the loss of 250,000 soldiers while reporting that Germany has lost a million.

Text of Red-British Pact

MOSCOW, July 13 (AP).—The following is the text of the British-Russian agreement:

"Agreement for joint action by the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and his majesty's government in the United Kingdom in the war against Germany:

"The government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and his majesty's government in the United Kingdom have concluded the present agreement and declare as follows:

"1. The two governments mutually undertake to render each other assistance and support of all kinds in the present war against Hitlerite Germany.

Ban One-Sided Armistice.

"2. They further undertake that during this war they will neither negotiate nor conclude an armistice or treaty of peace except by mutual agreement.

"The present agreement has been concluded in duplicate in the Russian and English languages. Both texts have equal force.

front, where Russia borders Finland, most recent reports speak only of artillery and patrol activities and there apparently is no great drive toward Leningrad under way from that direction at present.

Dive Bombers Destroy Tanks.

As evidence of the fierce force of the German air force in this drive, dive bombers yesterday destroyed 77 Russian tanks and 45 cannon in the Smolensk area alone. In addition, 174 Russian planes were destroyed yesterday, 88 of them in air battle, DNB asserted.

Military commentators and the official German news agency, DNB, sketched in the details of the military situation.

"The main strength of the powerful soviet army is broken," DNB said. "In addition, soviet units are greatly confused and leadership may not be able to prevail.

"The breaking of the Stalin line in several places is a decision of importance far beyond mere successes of the day. This break-thru at all decisive points has decided the course and outcome of the campaign against bolshevism in the interests of Europe."

DNB said the Stalin defense zone was as deep as 30 miles. With all these penetrated, it said, the great river systems of the Dnieper and Dniester have been conquered and the occupation of Kiev can be expected.

Subdue Masses of Men.

A German military commentator with good connections wrote today:

"The numerically far inferior German army already has subdued the giant soviet bear with its masses of men and materials to such an extent that it is on its knees and rears up with its last strength in an effort to stem the final destruction."

On the same theme, DNB said, "one of the many signs of the beginning breakup and disintegration of the Russian armies is reported from the southern front."

It said that in a forest there 300 Russian soldiers walked up to the Germans with their arms raised, the corporal shouting: "Don't shoot, we are friends."

The regular communique from headquarters of the German high command said in part:

"As made known by official announcement, the Stalin line was broken thru by bold storming at all decisive points.

German and Rumanian armies advancing from Moldavia have thrown the enemy back along a wide front to and across the Dniester river.

"Operating from Galicia, German, Slovak, and Hungarian troops are pursuing the enemy.

"Northeast of the Dniester German troops are at the gates of Kiev.

"North of the Pripet [Pinsk] swamps, a strongly fortified zone on the Dnieper river has been reduced.

"Thereby the center of our attack has thrust more than 125 miles east of Minsk. Vitebsk has been in our hands since July 11.

"East of Lake Peipus German tank formations are advancing on Leningrad. Our air force by destroying the enemy rail system has taken from the foe every possibility of organizing large scale counteroperations. Many enemy units show signs of disintegration. Supplies necessary for continuation of operations by our tank armies already have been brought close up to the former Stalin line.

"In the Baltic a speedboat torpedoed a soviet merchantman of 3,500 tons and the sinking of the vessel is regarded as probable."

LONDON MILITARY VIEW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 13.—Military experts suggested to the London office of THE TRIBUNE tonight that the war position of Russia possibly is considerably worse than Moscow cares to admit.

Some doubt was expressed regarding the extent of Russian resistance. The Russo-German battlefront, extending 2,000 miles from the Baltic to the Black sea, in all probability involves the greatest movements of armies in world history, and might necessitate honest communiques particularly by the attacking forces, who might themselves be deceived and trapped if given the wrong information.

Military observers say it would be bad strategy if certain positions were erroneously reported taken, because troops belonging to the advancing army might go there in the hope of finding friends when the enemy actually was there. Consequently, these observers feel that among things to be considered is the possibility that the position of the Russian army may be desperate and something which Moscow finds it convenient to conceal by means of inaccurate communiques.

today, July 14, 1941, the "Wool Products Labelling Act" goes into effect. Generally, its aim is to protect you, the consumer, as well as the retailer and manufacturer from the unrevealed presence of substitutes in woolen goods.

We are heartily in accord with the purposes of this act, for we feel, and always have felt, that the consumer definitely has a right to know the real content of any fabric he buys.

In this connection it is interesting to note that Hart Schaffner & Marx was the first clothing manufacturer to adopt an "all-wool" standard for fabrics (way back in 1907).

Since then millions of men have learned that in Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes they get only the best of fine quality woolens . . . that it pays to BUY CLOTHING WITH A LABEL YOU CAN TRUST.

CATHOLIC CLERGY REPORTED SLAIN IN RUSSIAN PURGE

Seminaries Wiped Out in Three Baltic States.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 13.—During the 12 months the Baltic states have been under control of communists directed from Moscow, a special organization built up over a period of 20 years by the Roman Catholic church has been destroyed. This organization, which operated a chain of seminaries for educating priests to spread the Christian religion in Russia, was supported by the Baltic Catholic churches and received subsidies and other forms of aid from the Vatican and churches in other countries.

The seminary in Estonia was located at Narva. There was another at Daugavpils [Dvinsk] in Latvia and one at Kaunas in Lithuania. Others were located in Poland.

Close Schools; Shoot Priests.

According to information received by THE TRIBUNE all of these seminaries have been "liquidated by the bolshevik GPU [secret police]. The majority of the teachers, most of whom were priests, and many of the students were reported to have been shot secretly after being tortured. The remainder have been sent into Russia to various places of exile.

Surviving priests of the Catholic church in Lithuania and Latvia have appealed to the Vatican to send representatives to investigate the atrocities. Other Christian churches also were persecuted and their leaders given similar treatment, it is charged.

Uprisings Follow Invasion.

When the German armies invaded the Baltic states there were uprisings in all three countries. These also took the form of pogroms. In Lithuania and Latvia most of the Jews fled along with the beaten remnants of the Red army. In Estonia, which has not yet been completely occupied by the German forces, home guards are waging guerrilla war against Red garrisons, and saving factories and other properties from destruction.

In Tallinn, capital of Estonia, combinded detachment of the Red army and Baltic fleet are making a desperate stand against the Germans.

A BOLSHEVIK WAR SONG TOPS ALLIED ANTHEMS ON BBC

LONDON, July 13 (AP).—The British Broadcasting corporation introduced a martial musical note into the new British-Russian agreement for joint action against Germany by playing a Bolshevik battle song tonight at the start of its home news program.

A record of what was described as a "rousing military march and call to battle" was put on the air ahead of the national anthems of allied countries which usually start the news broadcast. This song was broadcast by the Moscow radio when Josef Stalin spoke on July 3.

The BBC rendition appeared to wind up the half serious, half humorous discussion recently over whether the Internationale should be played by the BBC as a sign of British-Russian rapprochment.

But there still remained an element of mystery about the musical honor accorded Russia. Neither the BBC nor the soviet embassy was able to give the title or words of the song tonight. One London listener said the song was "The Red Airman's Song," a ditty frequently sung by leftists the world over.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS; DIES.

Sheffield avenue police are investigating the death of Lester Harlow, 42 years old, a laborer, of 4041 North Sacramento avenue. He was found unconscious yesterday in an areaway at 2707 North Halsted street and died in County hospital. His skull possibly was fractured.

BISHOP ASSAILED FOR URGING F. D. R. AS WAR ARBITER

Spoke Only for Self, Says Catholic Group.

New York, July 13 (AP).—The Catholic Laymen's Committee for Peace disclosed today it had appealed to every Roman Catholic bishop in the United States to announce that Bishop Joseph P. Hurley of St. Augustine, Fla., spoke for himself alone, when he expressed the view that President Roosevelt—and not congress—should decide whether and when this country should enter the war against Germany.

In telegrams to members of the hierarchy the committee said Bishop Hurley's speech last Sunday on a nation-wide radio hookup "bids fair to do great harm to the church in general and to the American hierarchy in particular."

Bishop's View Criticized.

The committee claims more than 300 members and said it has met in several eastern cities; also made public a letter to Bishop Hurley giving reasons why it believed his speech was "a serious mistake."

Bishop Hurley had said he believed the European conflict was no longer diplomatic or political, but had entered the "zone of strategy," which should be left to the commander in chief, "who alone, in constant, loyal communication with congress and consultation with his military and naval advisers, is capable of bringing us safely thru the dangers which encompass us."

Stand Against War Cited.

The committee wrote Bishop Hurley it opposed his sentiments because the American people "are overwhelmingly opposed to becoming involved in foreign wars" and because congress alone has the authority to declare war.

"To become involved in this war would naturally mean that we associate or collaborate with the communist government of Russia, which has murdered untold thousands in their diabolical work to destroy Christianity and belief in God," the committee asserted.

The committee's secretary is William T. Leonard, executive secretary of the America First Committee in Brooklyn, N. Y. Justice Herbert A. O'Brien of New York's Domestic Relations court is listed as committee chairman.

First Dane Killed Fighting Reds with Finnish Army

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 13.—Among the names of many Finns who gave their lives for their country, Helsingfors papers today listed the first Danish volunteer to die for Finland. He was Lieut. Joergen Hagemann, a son of an internationally known Danish banker, who was killed on patrol duty at the front. A volunteer for Finland in the preceding war with Russia, he had rejoined the Finnish army only a week ago.

WARNS OF HITLER HOPE TO SEEK PEACE FROM MOSCOW; ASKS DENIAL

NEATH, Wales, July 13 (AP).—Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal, told an audience here today that it was probable Adolf Hitler "hopes to be able to launch from Moscow a great peace offensive."

"I dare say," he added, "he will find some pacifists to respond. There are still a certain number of amiable, gullible, woolly minded people . . . who still go about bleating about peace by negotiation.

"He may catch a few war weary people here and there and a few peace-at-any-price people who put their private fortunes above the public weal.

"I can assure you he will deceive no one in the government. . . . We will not make peace with the Nazi gang. It would be a betrayal of everything for which this country stands."

Chile to Put Seized Danish Steamships in U. S. Service

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 13.—Five Danish ships, the Helga, Lotta, Frida, Selma, and Laila, recently requisitioned by the Chilean government, soon will be plying on regular schedules between Chilean ports and the United States, Canada, Mexico, Central America, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru, according to an announcement of Valparaiso today. The ships will fly the Chilean flag and carry Chilean crews, but these may include the Danes who were previously aboard.

WAR RAID FREES EX-PHILADELPHIA CONCERT MASTER

BERLIN, July 13 (AP).—Gerhard Starcke, German war reporter, said in a dispatch today that Heinrich Schabhinsky, 51 years old, whom he identified as a former concert master of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra under Leopold Stokowski and professor at Princeton, had been released from Russian imprisonment thru German air raids.

Starcke said Schabhinsky told him he was arrested by the soviet secret police in 1939 while teaching at Lemberg [Lwow], Poland, and had since been imprisoned at Bialystok and Minsk.

The reporter said several of the musician's teeth had been knocked out and that he was dressed in rags. Schabhinsky told a story, Starcke said, of being released from prison at Minsk during a German air raid, marching 60 miles under guard, and escaping during another aerial attack after many prisoners had been killed by the police.

First Madrid Volunteers Leave to Fight Russia

MADRID, July 13 (AP).—The first contingents of Madrid's "Blue legion" volunteers, Spaniards who signed up to fight Russia, left for Germany today to the cheers of a throng shouting "Viva Espana! Death to Russia!"

ILLINOIS OPPOSES WAR BY 4 TO 1 AS POLL NEARS END

Results of Balloting to Be Printed Tomorrow.

BY PERCY WOOD.

The 4 to 1 state-wide opposition to war apparent from earlier returns in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S war poll was holding last night as tabulations were made on the basis of 66,078 ballots. They showed:

Yes [for war]: 12,170, or 18.42 per cent.

No [against war]: 53,356, or 80.75 per cent.

Spoiled ballots totaled 552, or .83 per cent.

Final Count Today.

The final count in THE TRIBUNE'S poll will be made today and the results published in tomorrow's issue. Returns have been accumulating from Chicago, the Cook county towns, and nine downstate cities for almost two weeks in response to postcard ballots which asked: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?"

Only one downstate city and one Chicago ward are showing a majority for war as the tabulators prepare to make their final calculations. The city is Cairo, southernmost point in the state. The ward is the 24th, on the west side.

East St. Louis, which has skipped back and forth across the 50 per cent line, was at 50.23 on the side of peace last night. The other cities—Aurora, Bloomington, Danville, Galesburg, Peoria, Rockford, and Springfield—have piled up far greater margins against intervention.

Downstate 75.87 Per Cent Anti-War.

Downstate returns totaled 5,569 last night and showed these results:

Yes: 1,301, or 23.36 per cent.

No: 4,225, or 75.87 per cent.

Spoiled ballots totaled 43, or .77 per cent.

The 30 Cook county country townships included in the poll were running about 5 per cent higher against war than the downstate cities. The suburbs had returned 10,234 ballots, which broke down into the following percentages:

Yes: 1,417, or 13.85 per cent.

No: 8,782, or 85.81 per cent.

Spoiled ballots totaled 35, or .34 per cent.

Chicago 80 Per Cent Against War.

In Chicago, the voters had marked and mailed 50,275 ballots last night. The results were as follows:

Yes: 9,452, or 18.80 per cent.

No: 40,349, or 80.26 per cent.

Spoiled ballots totaled 474, or .94 per cent.

Every 10th voter on the election rolls in the territory selected was sent a ballot in the war poll. The total mailed was 257,484.

FRENCH GROUPS MARK BASTILLE HOLIDAY TODAY

Chicagoans of French descent and members of the French-American societies today will observe the French national independence day, the 152d anniversary of the storming of the Bastille and the beginning of the French revolution.

The French consulate will be host to the Chicago French colony at a reception from 11 a. m. to noon in the consulate offices, Room 3103, Palmolive building. Tonight at 7:30 o'clock Les Comrades de Combat de Chicago, French war veterans, will hold a Bastille day dinner in the Congress hotel.

A festival of liberty for the benefit of the "Free French" forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle will start at 6 p. m. in Pilsen park, 3048 West 26th street. The festival is sponsored by the Franco-American Committee for Bastille Day.

War Poll Results in City, Suburbs, and Downstate

Following are the results of the balloting to date in The Chicago Tribune's poll on the question: "Shall the United States Enter the War to Help Britain Defeat Hitler?" Every tenth voter on the polling lists in Chicago, Cook county and nine downstate cities was sent a ballot.

REPORT ECUADOR APOLOGY IN PERU BORDER DISPUTE

LIMA, Peru, July 13 (AP).—A responsible spokesman said today "things look better" in the Peruvian-Ecuadorean border dispute as a result of an apology reported by the foreign office to have been received from Ecuador for an incident arising from the recent frontier outbreaks.

The apology was said to have been made by the Ecuadorean foreign office in response to a protest made by Peru over the destruction of a coat of arms in an attack on the Peruvian consulate at Guayaquil.

[Confirmation of such a report was lacking from Ecuador, which previously had charged Peru with aggression in the border fighting.]

The spokesman said a feeling of optimism prevails in official circles because the Ecuadorean note was a "spontaneous action," meaning that it did not result from the suggestion or advice of a third party or "outside pressure."

Previously he had said that the impression in high official quarters was that Peru would accept a plan offered by Argentina, Brazil, and the United States to create a no-man's-land in the disputed territory provided, he asserted, it is offered as good offices and not as mediation.

France's Independence Day Made Day for Meditation

VICHY, France, July 13.—In a brief broadcast today, Chief of State Marshal Petain proclaimed July 14, "formerly a holiday for the nation and the army," as a nonworking day to be devoted to meditation on "our dead, our prisoners, our ruins, and our hopes." Petain said he had asked German authorities to permit persons in the occupied zone to observe the day, which commemorates the French revolution of 1789.

NEW YORK WOMEN MORE OPPOSED TO WAR THAN THE MEN

New York, July 13 [Special].—Wives, mothers, sisters, and sweethearts are more than 5 per cent stronger against war than their menfolk, a separate count of postcard votes by sexes revealed today as the New York News state-wide referendum swung into the home stretch.

Ballots will be tabulated tomorrow for the last time. They will give the final verdict of New York voters on the question: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?"

Bulging mail sacks containing 20,364 cards arrived at poll headquarters today and brought to 144,124 the total tallied so far. The state-wide score stands:

For war..... 43,359, or 30.1 per cent
Against war...100,765, or 69.9 per cent

Evidence that women as a group are less warlike than men was provided by a double check in two distant areas—the fourth assembly district in Queens and Oneida county. The women voted 81.9 per cent to 18.1 per cent against war and the men 76.3 per cent to 23.7 per cent against war, a difference of 5.6 percentage points.

ADMITS LOOTING HOMES.

Austin police said last night that Henry Brooks, 22 years old, colored, of 433 East 45th street, who was arrested at Menard avenue and Washington boulevard Friday, had admitted looting several homes on the north, northwest, and south sides.

REFUSE TO HALT JAP SHIP FOR TWO GERMAN CONSULS

San Francisco, Cal., July 13 (AP).—The captain of the Japanese liner Yawata Maru messaged tonight that he was unable to return to San Francisco for German Consuls General Fritz Wiedemann of San Francisco and Hans Borchers of New York, who received guarantees of safe conduct across the Pacific after the ship had sailed.

"We express our regrets we are unable to accept their request to return," the captain radioed. Wiedemann had telephoned the company's Tokio office in efforts to get the ship to turn back for him.

The two consuls general originally ordered to leave the country by July 10 said they had no idea what their next move would be. There were reports they might attempt to charter a plane and overtake the Yawata Maru.

SYRIAN PEACE SIGNED; NOW UP TO LONDON, VICHY

French Weakened by Lack of Supplies, Troops.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, July 13.—Britain's five weeks military campaign in Syria is over. It was announced today that British armistice terms had been accepted provisionally by Gen. Henri Dentz, chief of the Vichy French forces, in negotiations at Acre, Palestine.

General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, commander in chief of the British forces, and Gen. Georges Catroux, commander in chief of the "Free French" troops allied with Britain, also initialed the accord.

There was no alternative for the Vichy French. Pressed from the south, east, and west, no reinforcements or supplies could reach them. The British and "Free French" were slowly but relentlessly closing in on all main towns—Beirut, Homs, Tripoli, and even Aleppo, far up toward the border of Turkey.

Beirut Spared Attack.

The fall of Beirut, capital of Lebanon, had become a question only of when the British would attack in force—an attack which they did not want to make because of the damage and loss of civilian lives it would involve.

When efforts to send troops from Greece by sea failed because the British sank one troopship and turned back others, Gen. Dentz saw the only way out was to ask for an armistice. Even when Vichy announced that the terms were rejected, it was obvious that Gen. Dentz could not do much but accept them, whatever Vichy thought.

Asks Further Instructions.

Yesterday morning, Gen. Andre de Verdillac crossed the lines with a little party of high officers and civil officials and met the British and "Free French" at the ancient and historic town of Acre. After conferring several times, both sides initialed the agreement and each side asked for further instructions. The terms agreed upon were sent to London and Vichy for final approval.

There still is no official disclosure of the contents of the armistice terms. It is possible, however, that the terms are much like those already published in unofficial forecasts—Britain promises not to interfere with French interests; Vichy war material will be taken over; the French may return to France or stay with the "Free French" as they choose, and that German and Italian agents in Syria are to be seized.

Reassurance to Turkey.

LONDON, July 13 (AP).—British sources today said the armistice in Syria and Lebanon will make those French mandated Levant [near east] states a bulwark of defense against Germany and bolster the spirits of the nonbelligerent Turks.

Syria's northern frontier lies against Turkey and London sources said it was believed that the end of the campaign would bring that wavering nation back into the British sphere as a strong nonbelligerent ally.

The German invasion of Russia was believed here to have had a kindred effect because of a long standing Russian-Turkish association.

Wartime control of Syria means that Britain will be able to send military support to Turkey if it is required and to increase her trade with that country by way of railways traversing Syria.

Tentative Acceptance.

VICHY, France, July 13 (AP).—French sources declared tonight that Gen. Henri Dentz or his representatives had only tentatively initialed the armistice of Acre and that Dentz's powers extended only to military matters — not political or governmental.

Whereas an earlier communique said that the armistice had been signed, these sources said it had been only initialed pending "some technical counsel" from Vichy. This "counsel," they added, would be in no way binding on Dentz because he holds full responsibility.

He may not, however, reach any accord on the political or governmental aspect of the British armistice proposals, they said.

It is possible, according to these informants, that the British occupation will "resemble that of the Germans in the occupied zone of France —a taking over of military authority but leaving civil administration in the same hands."

Inspired by Lobster

Helen Russell wearing the "lobster" swim suit.

Seaside Heights, N. J., July 13 [Special]. — Helen Russell of Seaside Heights sports the latest in bathing suits, the "lobster" suit, whose motif was borrowed from a boiled lobster. The suit is made of a new waterproof material. Another suit worn these days by Miss Russell was adapted from Turkish towels.

NAZIS DESTROY MUNITIONS DUMP IN TOBRUK RAID

BERLIN, July 13 (AP).—Nazi planes destroyed a munitions dump and smashed anti-aircraft batteries at Tobruk, Libya, Saturday night after what the German high command reported today was an unsuccessful attempt of the beseiged British forces to break thru the axis lines. A communique also said German planes set fire to a munitions dump at Matruh, Egypt.

The Italian communique made similar claims and also declared that Italian planes repeatedly attacked the British base at Famagusta, Cyprus, and machine gunned British motor vehicles around Sidi Barrani and Buqbuq, Egypt. The British, the Italians, said, raided Bengazi and Derna.

ITALIAN LOSSES 582,000 TROOPS, BRITISH DECLARE

LONDON, July 13 (AP).—Italian losses in prisoners and other casualties in land operations numbered about 582,000 by the end of June, the ministry of information reported today. Of these 206,000 were native troops.

In the Libyan campaign the British took 120,000 Italians prisoner and 15,000 natives. Casualties numbered about 15,000, including 5,000 natives. In East Africa 96,000 Italians and 54,000 natives were captured. Casualties were estimated at 25,000 Italians and 132,000 natives of whom the majority were deserters.

The ministry estimated Italy had 100,000 casualties in the Albanian campaign and that 25,000 others were taken by the Greeks before the German invasion began.

Jail 27 in French Morocco as De Gaullist Plotters

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, July 13 (AP).—Special police, acting on orders of the resident general, today arrested 27 persons accused of entering a De Gaullist plot against the security of the state. Police said the activities of the group were directed from Tangier.

A BRITISH M. P. INVITES U. S. TO GET IN THE WAR

Might Make Nazis 'Crack,' He Tells Crowd.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 13.—An out and out invitation to the United States to get into the war was made today by Emanuel Shinwell, Labor member of parliament for Durham. Speaking at Carlisle this afternoon, he said:

"Americans know their own business but when the German people begin to realize that in addition to the powerful resistance of Russia and the strength of our air force they have to meet the armed might of America they may crack and that is the situation we must endeavor to bring about."

Shinwell added, however, that it would be unwise for Britain to depend too much on aid from other countries and concluded that it was Britain's duty to bring the national war effort up to the highest standard of efficiency and be prepared for every eventuality.

Hails Russian "Resistance."

He also said there was a distinct improvement in the situation for Britain because of the "splendid Russian resistance coupled with the vigorous RAF onslaughts on enemy territory."

Addressing miners at Coalville in Leichestershire today, Admiral Sir Edward Evans warned that "we are in for some harder fighting than we have seen in this war."

He brought with him a special message from Prime Minister Winston Churchill in which the latter said that an "immediate increase in coal production is of vital importance to the armed forces of the crown and to the industries supplying them with weapons."

Evans added: "Victory will very nearly depend on the coal output of the next four months."

Reveals Flaws in Aircraft Plants.

The Amalgamated Engineering union has submitted to the government its long promised report revealing serious conditions in British aircraft factories.

Twenty-five out of 30 factories are short of work as a result of a lack of materials and thousands of working hours are being wasted, it is charged. One case cited shows that where it once took only eight days to build a certain type of aircraft it now is taking three weeks. In one factory during the month ending April 13 the average hours of waiting were 2,726 weekly, the report charges.

Charge Shirking on Job.

According to the tabloid Sunday Pictorial, one specific complaint made in the AEU report, concerning a particular factory where an investigation was carried out, was that "nowhere in the factory does there appear to be any great amount of work and so long as a man turns up for work that, it appears, is all that matters. We claim that some of this shortage could be avoided by better supervision, better planning, and better progressing. Furthermore, there is a shortage of work thruout the whole factory owing to supposed shortages which never have been looked into or checked, there being no system or arrangement for this."

The AEU report, the same paper says, "should prove of enormous value to the ministry of aircraft production in speeding up plant output."

Favored in Poll

(Story in adjoining column.)

Analysis of returns in a poll taken by a London newspaper showed that there is a popular demand for the inclusion of the four men shown below in the war cabinet.

FAVOR SHAKEUP OF WAR CABINET IN BRITISH POLL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 13.—In an attempt to gauge British public opinion on the need of a shakeup of the war cabinet, the Sunday Pictorial today published the results of a national poll of its readers last week. An analysis of the thousands of votes cast proves there is a popular demand for four changes in the present cabinet, the paper says.

Thirty-two percent of the voters favored cabinet posts for former War Minister Leslie Hore Belisha, Minister of Information Alfred Duff Cooper, Emanuel Shinwell, Labor leader in parliament, and David Lloyd George, Britain's World war prime minister.

On the other hand only 24 per cent would retain as cabinet members Lord Privy Seal Clement R. Attlee, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood, Minister Without Portfolio Arthur Greenwood, and Lord President of the Council Sir John Anderson.

Eighty-eight per cent supported the retention of Lord Beaverbrook, now minister of supply who has been under fire in commons recently for his work as minister of aircraft production. The vote was 80 per cent in favor of Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, 64 per cent for Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, and 48 per cent for Minister of State Oliver Lyttelton.

British Warplane Explodes; Falls in Sea Off Portugal

LISBON, Portugal, July 13 (AP).—A British warplane exploded today and crashed into the sea off the north coast of Portugal, it was reported tonight. All members of the crew were believed lost. A tug, which put out from Viana Do Castelo could find only a few floating bits of wreckage and one body attached to a parachute.

COUPLE IN CAR ROBBED.

John B. Furey, 32 years old, 4920 Monroe street, a salesman, and Miss May Dooley, 29, a social worker, were robbed early yesterday of jewelry valued at $565 by two gunmen in front of Miss Dooley's home at 5025 West End avenue.

Japanese Halt Exports, Panama Dealers Advised

PANAMA CITY, Panama, July 13.—Concern was expressed in commercial circles here on receipt of word from Tokio that exports of Japanese merchandise to Panama are to cease. Exporters in Japan cabled: "Suspend sales merchandise. Exports suspended. Advise Colon and Curaco." Merchants attribute the stoppage to lack of transportation facilities. It is said that owing to the same conditions local importers are unable to obtain shipments awaiting on piers at Shanghai and other Chinese ports.

RESCUE 4 FLYERS AFLOAT 8½ DAYS IN A MINE FIELD

LONDON, July 13.—The air ministry today released a story of four British flyers who spent eight and a half days floating in a rubber dinghy after their bomber had failed to get back from a raid on Duesseldorf the night of July 1.

Other aircraft of their squadron passed unseeingly over their heads while returning from the raid and during the ensuing days more RAF planes came close without sighting them. On their fourth day on the water three RAF planes flying low passed within 200 yards but failed to see them. Finally they attracted the attention of a Hampden bomber by flashing signals with mirrors.

The flyers' flares failed to work, they had no compass and little rations. Moreover, they had come down over a mine field that was avoided by surface craft.

South Africa to Co-ordinate Buying in the United States

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, July 13 (AP).—A government plan for coördinating South African buying in the United States was announced officially today. It provides for the establishment of a South African purchasing commission in America which will work in coöperation with other dominions and Britain and for establishment in South Africa of a priorities board which will decide the order and essentiality of American imports.

LACK OF PLANES DELAYS TRAINING OF PARATROOPS

Shortage of Chutes Also Becoming Problem.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Benning, Ga., July 13.—The army's infant parachute troops are face to face with one bottleneck—a shortage of airplanes—and anticipate another—a shortage of parachutes—as soon as the strength of the unit is expanded.

A year ago July 9, Harry Wilson, a pioneer parachute jumper and one of the air corps technical experts, arrived here with 25 chutes and four air corps men to do the spade work. Wilson, a warrant officer, trained 48 men and 2 officers of the 29th infantry as a test platoon.

On Nov. 1 the 501st parachute battalion, all volunteer regular army men, was activated. The second battalion, the 502d, was organized two weeks ago. But since the first day, more than a year ago, the parachute troopers have had no airplanes for their sole use.

Lose Weeks of Training.

They rely on the ability, always subject to priorities, of surrounding air fields to send them army transports, the C-33 and C-39, when they can be spared. Sometimes a week or more goes by without any field being able to send planes.

There have been just enough planes available for the parachute trainee to get in his required five jumps. Lack of sufficient planes has retarded the second and most important phase when the qualified parachutist takes part with his battalion in mass jumps and difficult tactical maneuvers.

The C-33 and C-39, army designations of the Douglas air liner, carry 12 troopers. In production, according to officers of the provisional parachute group, is a modified form of the DC-3, a Douglas transport, which will carry 24 men and their equipment.

Britain Gets the Planes.

They have been promised four of these planes within a month and a total of 95 by next February. Priorities, principally for Great Britain, the officers say, make these delivery dates uncertain.

On hand, according to Capt. W. T. Ryder, commanding officer of the school, are enough parachutes for training. These include the individual chute each soldier packs for himself, his emergency chute, and canopies, not in perfect condition, for ground school use.

There will not be enough parachutes when the training program is expanded, Capt. William Yarborough, test officer, said, unless the parachute manufacturers are able to break the bottleneck which so far throttles large scale production.

Most of the canopies are made of Japanese silk. Some are being fashioned of Canton silk, and successful experiments have been conducted with rayon, Capt. Yarborough said, in the event the supply of silk is curtailed.

New Uniforms Due Soon.

Within a few weeks the paratrooper will be wearing a new uniform, selected after tests of more than two dozen, which will replace the present one piece forest green coverall. The new dress is a two piece affair of forest green cotton duck, consisting of trousers and a blouse, similar to a hunting jacket, and belted at the waist.

Instead of descending unarmed to his equipment which has preceded him on the ground, the new trooper will be able to carry a cartridge belt and automatic pistol under his jacket, without danger of fouling his parachute lines.

Discarding the crash helmet, similar to football headgear, the parachutist also is to be equipped with the new style army combat helmet with plastic liner. The new helmet, just beginning to appear here on a few soldiers, is similar to the Italian helmet and is designed to afford greater protection to the head and neck and to be more easily worn.

During his training period of from 6 weeks to 2 months, the novice parachutist receives the following instruction: 56 hours in learning how to pack his chute; 40 hours of jump training; 32 hours of training on the 250 foot jump towers; 8 hours of lecture, and 8 hours of equipment drill.

Before coming to the parachute school, the trainee already has received at least his 13 week basic infantry training course. In many cases the paratroopers, particularly regular army men, are specialists.

Each one of the 477 jumpers in a battalion of 500 carries an automatic pistol and hand grenades. In addition they drop from their planes, in their other equipment.

Hope for Heavier Weapons.

This includes the Garand semi-automatic rifle, the 60 mm. mortar, the light air-cooled machine gun, and the Thompson submachine gun. Capt. Yarborough said that the parachute troops hope in the future to have a heavy weapons company complete with flame throwers, 81 mm. mortars, and possibly the 37 mm anti-tank gun.

There has also been some talk that the parachute troops might experiment in dropping field artillery guns or mortars with 80 foot parachutes.

SMOKE KILLS 36 PIGEONS.

Smoke from a fire in a cottage at the rear of 8705 Saginaw avenue yesterday suffocated 36 homing pigeons owned by Joseph Kosinski.

'ALL WOOL AND A YARD WIDE' IS RULE TODAY UNDER NEW LABEL ACT

Washington, D. C., July 13 (AP).—Starting tomorrow, the housewife will have the long arm of the law behind her when she demands of her shopkeeper that Johnny's new suit be all wool, and no substitutes. All wool products must carry labels designating the percentage of wool they contain and stating whether they are made of reprocessed or reused wool.

[Reprocessed wool is material that has been woven or felted into a wool product without having been utilized in any way, and "reused wool" is reprocessed wool spun, woven, knitted, or felted into a wool product after having been used by a consumer.]

Henry Miller, director of the unit that will administer the act, said that the attitude of the wool industry has been one of coöperation. However, he cautioned those with unlabeled merchandise either to label it suitably or make sure that it is disposed of to the intrastate trade, and does not go into interstate commerce. The act applies only to merchandise sold across state lines.

ARNOLD URGES A GLIDER FORCE EQUAL TO NAZIS'

Elmira, N. Y., July 13 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, said tonight gliders "may spell the difference between success and failure" in many military missions.

Gen. Arnold, deputy chief of staff for air, addressing the 12th annual national soaring contest's closing banquet, advised this nation to become as adept as Germany in mastering gliders, and reported the air corps is procuring several types ranging in size from two place to 15 place models "for experimental purposes."

He declared, "We must know how to use them and learn to train others to use them."

Referring to Germany's extensive use of troop carrying motorless planes, he continued:

"I have heard it said that the United States army did not wake up to the military possibilities of gliders until after Crete. The facts are that we have been studying gliders and their possibilities for a long time."

Found, at Brookfield Zoo, a Small Boy Named Tommy

A blond toddler about 3½ years old who said his name was Tommy was found wandering thru Brookfield zoo yesterday, unaccompanied. He told attendants that he came with his daddy on a "big truck," but couldn't give his address or father's name. When he was still unclaimed at midnight police placed him in a private home until morning. The child has dark brown eyes and wore black shoes, a gay sweater, and maroon corduroy overalls.

BELIEVES PARACHUTE TROOPS COULD MAKE LANDINGS IN ICELAND

The central lava desert in Iceland might be suitable for landings by Nazi parachute troops, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, said yesterday on the weekly Round Table broadcast at the University of Chicago.

Iceland is only 600 miles from Nazi held Norway, the explorer said. Then he asserted that if the Germans can land in Iceland, so can other troops. He expressed the opinion that the people of Iceland are "pro-German but anti-Nazi."

Also participating in the discussion were Robert S. Platt, U. of C. geographer, and Carlos Fallon, former chief of staff of the Colombian navy.

AIR LINE CHIEFS CALLED TO WEST COAST MEETING

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, left Chicago last night for Los Angeles where he is to attend a conference today betweeen commercial aviation presidents and Representative Jack Nichols, of Oklahoma, chairman of a special house committee.

The meeting was called by Nichols, who limited his invitations to presidents of the various air companies. About 20 air line executives are expected to be present.

The purpose of the meeting was not announced. Some reports indicated it might consider the current production of airplanes.

100 MILWAUKEE PICNICKERS MADE ILL BY CUSTARD

Milwaukee, Wis., July 13 (AP).—Police estimated that 100 persons became violently ill tonight after they had eaten custard pie and custard cake served at an orphanage picnic.

Police Lieutenant Eugene O'Gorman said that the custard had been purchased at a Milwaukee bakery.

At least two persons, including Ald. John Kalupa, were made seriously ill.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the St. Joseph's orphanage sponsored the picnic.

TREATED FOR POISON.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

WARNS U. S. ARMY AS AN AEF WOULD FACE SLAUGHTER

Experts Agree We're Not Ready to Go to War.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 13.—Capt. Maxwell M. Corpening, Chicago Tribune war correspondent and military writer, declared in a radio forum tonight that if American troops were to be sent on an offensive expedition abroad with their present standard of training and equipment they would be "slaughtered like sheep."

Capt. Corpening, with four other military correspondents, participated in the American Forum of the Air, which was broadcast nationally over the Mutual system.

Other speakers on the program agreed that the army is not trained or equipped for modern warfare, altho correspondents for pro-war eastern newspapers intimated that going to war would be the best way to expedite the army's preparation.

Admits Lack of Equipment.

L. B. Sebring Jr., representing the New York Herald-Tribune, acknowledged the army's lack of modern equipment. However, he described it as "an army that, when it has the proper equipment, will stack up against any in the world."

Edward E. Bomar, correspondent for the Associated Press, asserted that "no qualified person would contend that the United States army is ready for blitzkrieg." He spoke of "major defects and deficiencies" in the army's present stage of transition.

William B. Hetherington, representing the Newark Evening News, asserted that "some officers are technically unfit and others are physically unfit." He spoke of "many competent, even brilliant officers who are handicapped by hidebound superiors or inefficient subordinates."

Argue Length of Training.

In response to a question from Bomar, Capt. Corpening declared that citizen soldiers cannot be adequately trained for modern warfare in less than three years. When Hetherington interjected that the British fix the time required at 16 months, Capt. Corpening replied: "That's why the British are running in Europe today."

Mark S. Watson of the Baltimore Sun argued that American divisions, however inferior to Germany's, are better than anything this country had in 1917. From this premise he concluded that America ought to go to war.

Capt. Corpening said the old American army of 100,000 was man for man and gun for gun the best in the world.

"But the cold fact of the situation," he said, "is that our country has been militarily asleep and failed to realize that an army of 100,000 was too small to protect our nation in case of emergency.

Finds Personnel Swamped.

"Echoes of the chaotic mess across the seas woke us up. The awakening was so sudden that we became hysterical instead of having breakfast. We tossed fourteen hundred thousand men into the military service practically over night. It simply swamped our trained personnel. The school was not equipped with instructors or material to care for the incoming class. Most of our senior officers are too old for field service. They must be weeded out.

"If we give our regular army young men sufficient time, they will redeem our fault of neglecting American defenses. Our nucleus of the handful of trained military men will, with a little leeway, produce an army equal to any in the world. They cannot do it overnight."

MADRID GRANTS 5TH COLUMNISTS MILITARY HONOR

MADRID, July 13 (AP).—Spain's "fifth column" dead, those undercover agents whose activities contributed a new phrase to the lexicon of modern war, were honored officially today by Generalissimo Francisco Franco thru a decree giving them the same status as soldiers slain in battle.

Families of fifth columnists who were executed or died in prison or who disappeared were authorized to claim war pensions.

The phrase fifth columnist was coined by the Nationalists when their forces were marching on Madrid. With four columns of troops approaching the capital, they described their fifth column as members of their undercover organization carrying on sabotage and espionage among the defenders in the city itself.

U. S. NAVY PLANE SENT TO SALUTE PRO-WAR RALLY

Knox Wires Greetings; Shooting Urged.

New York, July 13 [Special].—Organizations clamoring for the entrance of the United States into the war stepped up their efforts today.

At a meeting sponsored by the pro-war Committee to Defend America, a navy bomber from Floyd Bennett field opened the proceedings by dropping an American flag, and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox sent a telegram congratulating the committee for its work "in awakening the people of this country to the perils which confront them."

Speakers at the rally, held at Manhattan beach, Brooklyn, where thousands of people had gone to escape the heat, called on the United States to enter the war to insure the defeat of Germany.

Pecora Among Speakers.

Speakers included Justice Ferdinand Pecora of the New York Supreme court, Tallulah Bankhead, actress; Edgar Ansel Mowrer, foreign correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, and Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York state racing commission.

Pecora, attacking nonintervention-ists, used the term "Wheelberghs" to identify his targets [referring to Senator Burton K. Wheeler and Charles A. Lindbergh, leading noninterventionists]. Pecora is the Tammany judge who on a technicality dismissed District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's case against Tammany Leader James J. Hines after Dewey had presented a considerable part of his evidence.

Complains of Opposition.

Declaring that Americans "believe profoundly that freedom of speech is one of the firmest bulwarks of democracy," Pecora said that "we protest against the 'Wheelberghs' of America abusing that freedom to continue to divide our people on the issue of all-out aid to the nations fighting Hitlerism—four months after congress declared our public policy upon that issue by the enactment of the lend-lease bill."

Mowrer urged that the United States get into the war immediately, not only for the psychological effect upon other countries but also for its effect in this country in eliminating strikes and increasing production to assure ultimate victory over Hitler.

SWIFT IS A GENERAL; HE 'LEARS,' YOO-HOOS AT BATHING BEAUTIES

El Paso, Tex., July 13 (AP).—First act on the El Paso Country's club's annual bathing beauty revue was a shadow show, featuring girls in bathing suits and shorts.

Called Gen. Swift. "Yoo hoo!"

[Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear last week disciplined troops who yoo-hooed at girls in Memphis, thereby starting nation-wide controversy.]

OVERCOME BY EXHAUST FUMES; SAVED.

A fire department rescue squad yesterday revived Clarence Pipowski, 24 years old, after he was overcome by exhaust fumes while working on his auto in the rear of his home at 3254 South Hamilton avenue. The squad, under Lieut. Walter Flannery, worked 35 minutes.

PATRIOTIC RALLY BLASTS SNARES OF WAR MONGERS

3,500 Join in Plea to Keep U. S. at Peace.

Watertown, Wis., July 13 [Special].—Men and women of this typical mid-western city gathered today in a grove of towering elms — a memorial to the dead of the World war—and voiced their protest against further American interference in European wars.

Karl E. Mundt.

The rally, held in a shady park on the bank of the Rock river, grew out of an idea conceived by a small group of citizens. It was attended by 3,500 persons.

Representative Karl E. Mundt [R. S. D.], was the principal speaker. He described what he termed the efforts of side show barkers in the east to drag the nation into war.

Three Issues Reviewed.

Mundt said there are three issues at stake:

1. Should the United States get in or stay out of the war?

2. Should the decision be made by congress and the people—under constitutional provision—or should it be left to the President and the side show barkers outside of the government.

3. How can the nation best protect its way of life and its sphere of influence—the western hemisphere?

"The answer to the first question is clear," Mundt said. "We should keep out of war unless we actually are attacked. In that way we can best serve our American interest, which is our first obligation, but we also can thus best serve the cause of freedom.

Intervention Drive Assailed.

"The argument of the interventionists that we must go to war because we are in danger of attack is not supported by a single military authority. There is no man of experience and knowledge who thinks we are in the slightest danger of attack."

Mundt also attacked the interventionist assertion that America is threatened with economic invasion as a result of Nazi successes.

"Slave labor never can compete with free labor," he said. "If we avoid ruinous inflation, there is no combination of powers in the world that threatens American economic life."

Idealistic Claims Branded False.

He said that the argument of idealism—that America must enter the war to protect Christianity and world freedom—would be the most convincing claim of the war party, if the argument were true.

"The fault is that it is not true," he said. "Too many Americans remember how we made the world safe for democracy 25 years ago.

"The country is united against war as it never has been before, and when the majority speaks the minority must follow. In the final instance it will be the people who decide whether we enter or stay out of the war."

Receive Wire from Taft.

United States Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] sent a telegram hailing the rally. "It is encouraging to know that the people support those who believe America's destiny lies on this side of the ocean and not in regulating the affairs of Europe," his telegram said.

Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago, chief of the America First committee, wired that the rally was a demonstration of the patriotic purpose of the people to stay at peace. "You have the support of the united nation which is determined to build an impregnable defense at home and stay out of the war abroad," he telegraphed. "Rallies like this will remind our government of the people's overwhelming desire for peace."

BATON TWIRLERS TO LEAD CHINESE THANKS PARADE

Six champion baton twirlers, whose average is 18, will lead the China Gratitude parade down Michigan avenue tomorrow evening. The parade is being staged by Chinatown in appreciation of the aid Chicago citizens are giving China in its war against Japan.

The twirlers will be Charlene and Shirley Handy, national twin team baton twirlers and the Illinois state high school champions; Shirley Skriven, who won the 1939-40 high school championship, the Illinois state championship, and first place in the junior division of the Chicagoland Music Festival; Bernice Gaedke, a national champion flag twirler; Bob Abbott, national American Legion champion, and Jack Lacker, another Music Festival winner.

Participating in the parade will be Chinese students, refugees, soldiers, Boy and Girl Scouts, American Red Cross groups, American Legion bands, fife and drum corps, and a Chinese orchestra on a float. The parade will start at 8:30 p. m. from Randolph street between Field drive and Michigan avenue and will proceed south on Michigan to Harrison street, then east to the Congress street plaza.

SIX GROUPS PASS QUOTAS IN DRIVE FOR USO FUNDS

Six business classifications have passed their group quotas in the United Service organization's campaign to raise $679,500 in the Chicago area, USO headquarters announced last night.

The following groups have exceeded their quotas: Confectioners, T. C. Dennehy, chairman, $19,802; hotels, Otto K. Eitel, chairman, $4,325; shoes, W. J. Gibbs Jr., chairman, $2,678; state departments, Mrs. M. J. Hirst, chairman, $2,086; soft drinks, Robert E. Joyce, chairman, $1,477, and clubs, J. L. Bristol, chairman, $1,182.

As they neared the $400,000 mark in the campaign, volunteer workers reported the following subscriptions of $100 or more: Balaban and Katz theater employés, $102; Burton-Dixie company, $232; United Electrical company, $100; Daily, Dines, White & Fiedler, $250, and Joe Lowe Corp., $159.

Third Flying Boat Starts Service on British Route

New York, July 13 (AP).—The Bangor, the third Clipper type flying boat bought by the British Overseas Airways from Pan-American Airways, left today for Baltimore, Md., for regular use on the empire trade route. The four engined million dollar plane, camouflaged in slate blue and olive drab war paint, was in charge of Capt. M. R. Alderson. Her sister ships are the Bristol and the Berwick.

U. S. NAVY TO GET 15TH CENTURY CHINESE JUNK

Woman Explorer to Sell Famed Ship for $1.

HONOLULU, July 13 (AP).—Mrs. Anne Archbold says she is going to sell her Chinese junk to the United States navy in a few days for $1, after which it will be redesignated the U. S. S. Cheng Ho and used as a station ship at Pearl Harbor until the world situation is cleared up. Then it will be sent to Annapolis.

The Cheng Ho is a 154 gross ton vessel 99½ feet long. It was named for Admiral Cheng Ho, who sailed to Persia in the 15th century with 150 junks and carried back the first giraffe ever seen in China.

Modern Engines in Craft.

If midshipmen train aboard the Cheng Ho they will gain unusual sailing experience aboard one of the oldest type sailing ships in the world.

Above the water line the craft is a replica of the 15th century junks. Below the water line are twin screws driven by 110 horse power diesel engines.

Construction of the Cheng Ho was begun in the Ah King shipyard, Hongkong, April 19, 1939, on the date selected by Chinese priests as being lucky. First voyage of the vessel was to Manila and thence to the Dutch East Indies for the Fairchild garden expedition.

War Halts Explorations.

Mrs. Archbold comes from an exploring family. She is the aunt of Richard Archbold who explored hitherto inaccessible parts of the East Indies in the flying boat Guba.

The junk's second venture was to Fiji in coöperation with the Arnold Arboretum, Harvard university. After visiting Samoa, the Cook islands, and Tahiti Mrs. Archbold arrived here April 19.

Unsettled world affairs, difficulty of obtaining a suitable crew and expense of maintaining the Cheng Ho led her to offer it to the navy, she said.

Soldiers Here on Furlough Throng Chicago Streets

Soldiers were conspicuous on the streets yesterday as more than 2,100 officers and men from three southern army camps spent a brief furlough with the homefolks. Special trains from Fort Bliss, Tex., and Camp Livingston, La., arrived yesterday with 440 soldiers. On Saturday 1,700 arrived from Camp Forrest.

BUSINESS FINDS SILVER LINING IN N. Y. WAR CLOUDS

Pumps to Fight Air Raid Fires Put on Sale.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 13.—There's a sterling silver lining in the clouds of "enemy" bombers which the interventionists are predicting will appear soon in the skies over New York and other cities in the United States. The silver lining comes in the sale of equipment and uniforms for civilian defense forces.

Already fire extinguishers to stamp out the blazes from the forthcoming incendiary bombs are on the market in New York City. Plans are underway for the manufacture and sale of uniforms, caps, boots, and insignia to be donned by the air raid wardens.

Two million fire extinguishers is the goal of the Fire Defense & Equipment Bureau, Inc., which is offering a hand pump similar to the English air raid precaution stirrup pump, according to Maurice Holt, general sales manager of the concern.

"Pump That Saved London."

Holt said that the pumps would sell from $10.60 down to $8, the price depending on the volume sold, and that no home should be without one.

"This is the pump that saved London," said Holt.

The sales manager of the Fire Defense & Equipment Bureau, Inc., complained that building managers showed marked apathy toward buying the pumps preparatory to the air raids. They are being turned out now at the rate of 1,000 a day at a plant in Rochester, N. Y., and production should be stepped up to 7,000 a day, in Holt's opinion.

"We can't manufacture two million pumps from a 'standing start,'" explained Holt. "Some of these building managers seem to think we can wait until the enemy bombers are overhead."

Chicago, Too? "Absolutely!"

Asked whether he thought there would be any market for his product in Chicago, Holt replied: "Absolutely!"

"There's no reason why bombers can't fly to Chicago and attack it—it's only a four hour flight from New York" he added.

Holt returned recently from Washington, where he had been negotiating with civilian defense authorities for delivery of the pumps in large quantities and for the establishment of priorities in the rubber required for the hoses and the metal used in the nozzles and standards.

The pump is operated by hand. Water is drawn from a bucket and thrown from a jet at the end of the hose. According to the advertising brochure of the Fire Defense and Equipment Bureau, Inc., water should never be tossed directly from a bucket onto a burning magnesium bomb.

Three Better than Two.

Similar pumps in England have been operated by two persons, the advertising literature states, but three are better, one at the pump, one at the nozzle and one carrying water to feed the pump.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, director of civilian defense; David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers' union, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, put their heads together recently in an effort to solve the problem of producing uniforms for women defense workers.

The mayor and the President's wife inspected eight types of uniforms suggested by leading designers. Final approval of the uniforms will be given by a special board which has yet to be named. It was said the first uniforms would cost between $20 and $25 each, and Dubinsky wants to scale down the price.

New York City is conducting a recruiting campaign for 64,000 air raid defense wardens, both men and women, but so far only slightly more than half the number has been enrolled.

STUDY BALL BAT CLEW IN WOMAN CENSOR SLAYING

FBI Aiding Bermudans in First Murder Mystery.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 13 (AP). A sawed-off baseball bat provided a slim clew today to the rape slaying of Margaret A. Stapleton, 43 year old woman censor from England, and victim of Bermuda's first mystery murder.

Authorities, aided by two American FBI agents, admitted tonight, however, after examining the bat and questioning a number of suspects, that they were no nearer a solution than when the woman's nearly nude body was found last Sunday night.

Miss Stapleton, who came here from Yatley, Surrey, England, was slain while bicycling to the railway station in the moonlight to board a train.

Raped and Beaten to Death.

Dr. O. A. Arton said she had been raped and beaten to death.

Here is the way Bermuda authorities reconstructed events preceding and following the crime:

Miss Stapleton, daughter of an English clergyman, was the guest last Sunday night of Col. and Mrs. H. W. Mann in Prospect, where a British barracks is situated. She left the Mann residence to catch the 9:18 train for Hamilton.

On other visits to the Manns she had been escorted to the train but this time she said she preferred to bicycle the short distance to the station.

An hour later Col. Mann telephoned her residence to see if she had arrived and learned that she had not. He waited a while, thinking that she had elected to cycle into Hamilton.

Blood Pools Lead to Body.

Col. Mann became alarmed after making a second call and he started a search between his home and the station. As the 10:55 train arrived he enlisted the aid of the conductor and the engineer.

On the lonely by-path near the station they found two large pools of blood and followed a trail of blood 25 yards farther. There conductor Alfred Bates found the body lying face up, with the temple crushed by a terrific blow and the left leg twisted under the right.

Parts of Miss Stapleton's dress and underclothing had been torn to shreds. One stocking had been removed and folded neatly in her black-and-tan sports shoe. Her large cloth handbag, its contents untouched, was by her side. Her gold wrist watch still was running.

The ground about the body had been trampled. The baseball bat, sawed off at both ends, was found in nearby underbrush.

3 WAYS TO GET A $100 LOAN

How to borrow cash quickly and simply and repay in monthly installments which fit your own income

CAN YOU make good use of $100? Investigate our loan plans today. Household Finance offers three simple ways for you to borrow up to $300. Your loan will be made the way which best suits your own situation.

1. Signature loans. No security needed. These loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples.

2. Auto loans. A loan on your car may best fit your needs.

3. Furniture loans. Here character and regular income are far more important than the value of your security. Many borrowers use this plan.

No endorsers needed

Whichever way you borrow, it is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get the loan you need simply, privately and speedily.

You may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments as shown in the table. Monthly installments of $9.77 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or as little as $6.43 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

Borrow for less

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge a higher rate. It's good business to compare rates before you borrow.

If you need money, here's what to do. Come to Household. Or just phone and say you need a loan. We're here to serve you. Phone or visit us today without obligation.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

JOHN WARNER TALKS ABOUT BALDNESS

In a talk over the radio, John E. Warner, the nation's leading scalp specialist said: "Take care of your hair while you have it, for baldness is a permanent condition. Nearly every day I am asked to grow hair for someone who has waited too long—and, of course, I have to tell such individuals that I can't help them. To the man who is losing his hair I can, in such cases as I accept, be sure of saving and improving the hair through progressive steps of medication and treatment."

Statistics show that as much as 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness such as dandruff, itchy scalp and excessive falling hair—you should consult John E. Warner Associates without delay.

There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. The new Chicago office of the John E. Warner Associates is located at 36 S. State, North American Bldg., N. W. corner of State and Monroe, Suite 1320-24. Phone Central 1451, hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily, Saturdays to 6 P. M.

There is a separate department for women. Other Warner offices located in Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit.

MENTAL FAULTS NO. 1 REJECTION CAUSE IN ARMY

Pass Dental Defects at Chicago Center.

Mental defects now exceed dental faults as the principal cause for rejections at the Chicago draft induction station, a survey disclosed yesterday.

Since last November 1,152 men, or 2.73 per cent of those examined, have been turned down for mental reasons. Bad teeth were responsible for 1,064 rejections, or 2.26 per cent of the men who reported to the station for examination.

Lieut. Theodore Dulin, chief psychiatric officer, said most of the men rejected for mental causes are unfitted only for the hardships of military life, and are able to follow useful civilian occupations.

Reason for Increases.

The percentage of men rejected in the mental classification increased last month after experts from national headquarters of the selective service system urged induction station psychiatrists to reject all men who might possibly become a burden to the government. Any doubt that a prospective soldier would be unable to stand the strains of army life should result in rejection, local psychiatrists were told.

After this recommendation, rejections for mental causes increased from 1.54 per cent of all men examined in April and May to 4.02 per cent in June, thus contributing substantially to the increase noted since last November.

Lieut. Dulin said about 50 per cent of the mental rejections were for comparatively mild psychoneuroses, and another 25 per cent for personality disorders. Failure to pass literacy tests caused rejections of .55 of 1 per cent of all examined.

Other Causes of Rejections.

Sight and hearing defects ranked third and fourth as principal reasons for rejection, sight defects accounting for 957 rejections, or 2.15 per cent, and hearing defects, 575 rejections or 1.31 per cent. Bone defects were responsible for 552 rejections, or 1.14 per cent.

The following table gives the 15 principal reasons for army rejections in Chicago and the percentage of men thus rejected from the total number examined:

DEFECT.	TOTAL.	PER CENT.
1. Mental	1,152	2.73
2. Teeth	1,064	2.26
3. Eyes	957	2.15
4. Ears	575	1.31
5. Bones	552	1.14
6. Hernia	452	.99
7. Venereal diseases	373	.87
8. Alcoholism	205	.48
9. Temporary ills	174	.40
10. Overweight	136	.30
11. Genitals	133	.29
12. Underweight	130	.28
13. Heart and blood pressure	112	.26
14. Lungs	90	.21
15. Kidneys	77	.19

Among the "other causes" for rejection listed by the induction station was one of "foreign bodies, to wit: buckshot in the right arm," and one of a piece of surgical needle in the lower spine.

REMOVE BULLET FROM TEMPLE; VICTIM WILL LIVE

A nearly spent .22 caliber bullet hit William Pauling, 44 years old, a truck farmer, in the temple yesterday while he was standing near his home on route 1, near Arlington Heights.

The bullet lodged just under the skin. It was removed at St. Francis hospital, Evanston. Physicians said his condition was good.

Sergt. Max Ramelow of the Morton Grove county highway police said Arnold Busse, 22, a neighbor of Pauling, admitted he had been shooting crows with a .22 caliber rifle about half a mile away.

Stage Coach Holdup at Thrill Show

CHIEF MULLANEY DROPS 6 FLOORS —AND 23 CENTS

He Did It Just Before Thrill Show Started.

Just to prove that he knows all the tricks of the fireman's trade, Chief Anthony J. Mullaney went to the top of the six story fire tower before the the show and did a slide for life to the ground. [He lost 23 cents from his pocket.]

Engine company 5 went home from the Police and Fire Thrill show drenched but happy yesterday. It had won the water fight for the fourth successive year.

One-Eyed Connolly, the gate crasher, saw the thrill show for the first time this year. John Foy, the fire fan officer manager for the show, said Connolly had to pay his way in, which is against his principles, but the old gate crasher didn't want to miss the show.

Lost articles included one boy who couldn't remember his name. Sergt. Leo Sheehan of the park police asked the boy his father's name, and the young man remembered that. His father was called on the public address system, and everything turned out all right.

John Balek's motorcycle head stand was stricken from the program because of injuries he suffered in an accident several days ago. When time for the head stand arrived, Balek jumped on a motorcycle and circled the field standing on his head anyway.

Chief James S. Furlong's All-Stars, the volunteers who do the heavy work of the show, won an ovation as great as the performers.

If you got up late for breakfast this morning you can still get to the office on time. Firemen got out of bed, dressed, slid down the brass pole, and started to a fire in the bunking exhibition in 9 seconds.

BEGIN PREPARING TODAY FOR NEW DRAFT LOTTERY

Washington, D. C., July 13 (AP).—Five girls will start tomorrow inserting numbers in the capsules which will be drawn in the second draft lottery next Thursday.

The drawing will determine the order in which some 750,000 young men will be called for possible military training by their draft boards. The men reached the draft age minimum of 21 between Oct. 16, 1940, the first registration date, and July 1, 1941.

Selective service headquarters said today that each of the girls would work at assembly boards, slotted to hold 25 capsules. The capsules, a new type developed since the last drawing, will be noninflammable, made of cellulose acetate.

SAVE 2 HURLED INTO LAKE WHEN BOAT CAPSIZES

Two men who were thrown into the lake when their catboat was overturned yesterday in Jackson park harbor were rescued by a crew from the Jackson park coast guard station.

The men were Carl Cramer, owner of the boat, and Robert Seidel. They had sailed from the harbor in Burnham park and were attempting to put in at the Jackson park harbor when the craft was overturned by a wave. The coast guard crew was directed by Chief Mate Arthur Adrian. Cramer, an automobile salesman, lives at 1401 Hyde Park boulevard.

GOV. GREEN GOES TO WORK ON RUSH OF BILLS TODAY

A great rush of new legislation is expected to clear Gov. Green's desk beginning today. His aids said that he will attempt to dispose of 360 bills by July 25. Since the general assembly adjourned June 30, the governor has vetoed, approved, or permitted to become law without his signature about 180 bills.

The governor has 10 days in which to act upon a bill after it reaches his desk. Most of the pending bills are in the attorney general's office awaiting legal opinions or are still in the office of the enrolling and engrossing committee, which was swamped by the bills passed during the final few days of the session.

The bill permitting Chicago and downstate cities to license handbooks is one of the controversial measures yet to come before the governor.

Expansion of the experimental system of using private employment agencies to get jobs for reliefers became possible when Gov. Green signed a bill appropriating $150,000 to be spent at his direction, it was learned yesterday.

State Treasurer Warren Wright, chairman of a committee directing the experiment, said the appropriation "spells more hope for the relief recipients of Illinois than they have had for 10 years."

NMU SEEKS TO BAR SAILOR WHO ASKS FOR QUIZ ON REDS

Cleveland, O., July 13 [Special].—Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime union [CIO] today threatened to hold up the sailing of the liner Ancon of the Panama Railroad company if the federal government retains as one of the crew a man who demanded public inquiry into charges of communism against Curran and other members of the union.

The crew member involved is Joseph J. Doyle, a waiter on the ship, who was forced to resign from the union after he made the charges of radicalism. Curran said the rest of the crew would not sign to sail from the canal zone Thursday if Doyle is aboard. Curran said the union had agreements with the company which would make it possible to bar Doyle from future employment.

Doyle said that he was convinced the union is dominated by communists, and he could not expect a fair trial on pending charges that he conspired with nonunion elements to wreck the NMU.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR ILLINOIS AND CHICAGO

Save Our Republic

THE STEALTHY BETRAYAL OF THIS COUNTRY.

Senator Bone of Washington and Senator Lucas of Illinois, both Democrats, have made a demand that British troops be withdrawn from Iceland in accordance with Mr. Roosevelt's treaty with the government of that little country. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill apparently haven't the same understanding in the matter. When Mr. Roosevelt told the senate what he had done—without its advice or consent—he said the American force would supplant the British in occupation there. Mr. Churchill told parliament that the British government intended to retain its army of occupation.

The senators, who were allowed no part in the negotiations with the Icelandic government, point to the fact that the situation provided for in Mr. Roosevelt's agreement is quite different from that created by Mr. Churchill's policy. Iceland, garrisoned by British troops, is not only in the war zone, but it is a military objective which the Nazis would attack if they were able, and will if they can. So far as they are concerned it is another Crete.

If the British troops remain there, the Americans actually go into battle position with them and would sustain any attack which might be made. There couldn't be much pretense that this was merely an outpost of defense for the hemisphere when British and American forces were on one of the battle fronts of the European war. Of course, it is Mr. Roosevelt's purpose that the expeditionary force should be on the battle front. That's one place where the shooting may begin.

Very likely Mr. Roosevelt would pay no more attention to any demand the senate may make than Mr. Churchill will. Together they have created a situation highly satisfactory to them and in part their gains would be lost if the British were withdrawn and the contact of the expeditions broken. So long as the British and American forces are operating together, they're in the war together, and that is what is desired both in Washington and in London. It has been brought about by Mr. Roosevelt over a trail of broken promises. His promises are bothering him very little and his apologists say that the trend of events since last fall has made his pledges obsolete.

This country is in the damnedest train of governmental double dealing and deceit it ever experienced. It is a national misfortune that whenever Mr. Roosevelt publicly announces he will not do a thing he is at that moment preparing to do it. The European artists in perfidy swear falsely to deceive other peoples they intend to attack. The American government swears falsely to delude its own people, whom it proposes to lead, contrary to their will, contrary to their expressed determination, into a war into which they have been promised time and again, with the utmost solemnity, that they would not be led.

They are completely deceived. They are kept in the dark as to events. They learn by leaks in the official censorship that a destroyer has attacked a German submarine. They discover that Americans, with American materials, are building a base of some sort in Northern Ireland. They don't know whether these men are working for the British government or the American. All they find out is that the people of Northern Ireland are rejoicing in the presence of Americans whom they regard as allies.

Americans must feel that forces over which they have lost control are driving them remorselessly and steadily into war and that the checks supposed to be contained in their system of government are paralyzed. Their own common sense and their good judgment warn them against all this. They dread the consequences of a European war, both for the present and for the future, and every day they realize that Mr. Roosevelt is closer to the shooting.

WAR FOR OTHER MEN'S SONS.

The carbon copy Roosevelt emerged from a conference with the President the other day to urge, on the White House steps, that the occupation of Iceland be followed by the establishment of American bases in Northern Ireland and Scotland. That would put American troops as close to the firing line as is possible in the present status of the western front. But while Mr. Willkie is most energetic in urging these risks on other men's sons, he does not seem to have persuaded his own to undertake them. Philip Willkie is waiting to see where his number turns up in the draft, altho the recruiting offices are still open.

PLEASE CHECK CROWNS AT THE DOOR.

Reports that the Netherlands government in exile is to be set up in Washington continue to be heard. The presence in this country of members of the Dutch royal family and their frequent attendance at the White House and at Hyde Park tend to strengthen the rumors. In the circumstances it would be well for our government to serve notice as tactfully as possible that Americans cannot permit the presence in this country of a royal form of government.

If the Dutch wish to have their headquarters here we must at the very least insist that it be the headquarters of a Dutch republic, not the Dutch monarchy. It would be awkward and embarrassing to all concerned if there were persons in this country who expected to enjoy a special position before the law and in society as a consequence of their royal birth or of their relations to a royal court. Respect for our own laws and institutions might lead us to action which would seem unfeeling, disrespectful, and inhospitable. Any government in exile presents embarrassments to its hosts and these embarrassments become insoluble problems of law and conduct if the governments concerned are not of the same sort.

IT IS TIME TO ORGANIZE FOR DEFENSE.

Thus far, congress has promptly voted every appropriation for the army and navy which the President has requested. In its determination to avoid any delay, congress has merely reflected the all but unanimous opinion in the country that our defenses must be strengthened as quickly as possible.

Congress has approved in principle an arms program which will cost an aggregate of 43 billion dollars at the last accounting. In the last fiscal year only a little more than 3½ billions were actually spent for arms but contracts and authorizations for 20 billions of specific expenditures have been announced. Obviously the production of war materials is lagging far behind the appropriations and many months, if not many years, must elapse before the sums already appropriated are exhausted. Congress can now ask the questions it did not dare take the time to ask a year ago. The moment has come for congress to review our military policy.

The rearmament program was started in the absence of a clearly conceived plan of defense. If we had had such a plan we could have directed our efforts to achieving it and no doubt huge sums would have been saved. Instead, the authorities—in a panic—have ordered everything they could think of, oftentimes without considering whether the individual items are of use in modern warfare.

The lessons of the fighting in Europe have made little impression in Washington. Hundreds of millions are being spent for heavy battleships altho these vessels are so vulnerable to airplane attack that their principal mission in the war has been to keep out of danger. Huge quantities of scarce raw materials and even scarcer human skills are going into this part of the naval program while more important immediate needs are being neglected.

Likewise we appear to be building an anti-tank gun which experience indicates is too light to stop tanks. Everybody concedes that the weapons left over from the last war are obsolete and must be replaced, but there are grave questions about the new stuff now beginning to roll off the assembly lines. Qualified critics have found fault with the light and medium tanks. The value of the Garand rifle is far from established; the Germans seem to have had great success with a Tommy gun and there is no indication that the Germans are loading down their assault troops with bayonets.

The time has come for congress to insist upon a precise statement of armament needs. This is a rich country but it isn't so rich that it has money for wasteful war mongers and a rascally rake-off brigade.

Q. AND A.

Every so often we hear complaints that the questions asked in the Test Your Facts and Horse Sense departments of this newspaper are too simple. These complaints come, of course, from the greatly learned who know that there were two kings named Antiochus, both of them now dead, and that tradescantia is spiderwort. Maybe they even know what spiderwort is.

For such readers a variant of the game is indicated. Let them look at the answers first and from the answers figure out what the question was. What, for example, produced the answer, "2½ feet a year?" The speed of light can be eliminated almost at first glance. Quite obviously, too, the reader was not asked the rate of progress of a Halsted street car, for that is materially faster than 2½ feet a year even at the rush hour. Was the quiz-maker interested in the growth of an adolescent elephant under favorable nutritional conditions? Or in the speed with which Dearborn street has been approaching China in recent months?

What was the question to which the answer was the simple word, "nerve?" It might have concerned the large spirited people of New York who send letters to Chicago appealing for support of charitable institutions in Manhattan. Herr Hitler cannot be eliminated from consideration. Neither can the dentist's drill.

Another answer says "It changes starch into sugar." Did the quizzer want to know the function of saliva, or malting, or a mink coat? Any one of the three might have been in his mind. The question for the learned is which.

GROUP MEDICINE STUDY.

[Des Moines Register.]

During 1939 and part of 1940 Dr. Franz Goldmann of Yale made a study of five programs of medical care by groups of salaried physicians provided for five classes of workers whose average annual incomes ranged from $2,700 to $1,200. His report, now published by the Joint Committee of the Twentieth Century Fund and the Good Will Fund, is interesting for two reasons:

1. It indicates that excellent medical care can be brought within the means of millions of families by a group plan.

2. It indicates that the average working man [who earns only $1,000 a year and has a wife and two children] cannot afford to buy medical care even at group rates unless the group is very large.

As might be expected the study shows that the most far reaching and least expensive service was that rendered to the largest group of beneficiaries—51,000 who participated in a group plan set up by an industrial company. Everything was included—drugs, bedside nursing in the home, house calls, unlimited care in an approved hospital even in cases of chronic illness, every approved diagnostic and therapeutic aid, and the counsel of specialists.

Tho the other four plans fell considerably short of this, they all provided physicians' care in the clinic, home, and hospital, diagnosis with the aid of X-rays, and laboratories, anesthetics, physical therapy, restricted hospitalization, and nursing. There were, however, "extras" which were paid for at reduced rates. The cash indemnity insurance plans fall in comparison, the study argues.

Research by the Committee on Costs of Medical Care showed that in 1929, a boom year, some 40,000 out of 70,000 general practitioners earned net incomes of only $2,500 a year. But in these five group plans, the minimum salary runs from $3,000 to $3,500 a year for a small number of assistants, and the maximum from $7,200 to $10,000. These salaries are net incomes.

Moreover the employment contracts for physicians under these plans call for free days, paid vacations, traveling expenses to attend scientific meetings, and the benefit of life and accident insurance.

Local strike, we notice, is being organized by a gentleman called Otto De Bate. Maybe Otto ought to, at that.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

HINTS TO HOARDERS.

If you feel an itch to hoard something in preparation for convulsions in the body politic, you might consider automobile tires. The talk in our best filling stations and garages is that new tires will soon be scarce because of defense priority demands. We met a tire merchant in Las Vegas who said that the next time he found a set of super-elegant tires he intended to tuck them away in his attic. Nice, handy things to hoard.

You should discipline yourself, of course, to hoard the stubs of theater, baseball, and football tickets, otherwise you'll be in a jam when your income tax schedule bounces back with a demand for "vouchers" to sustain the truthfulness of your amusement tax deduction. These bits of cardboard are quite easy to find at the end of the year—if you have a good filing clerk.

* * *

We overlooked a fine opportunity for hoarding while passing thru Oklahoma, Utah, and other states that use aluminum token money in sales tax calculations. After crossing the border into a nontoken state, we would throw our 1 mill and 5 mill pieces away. We should have saved them to be converted into airplanes.

Out in Hollywood the unco' rich in the movie colony are hoarding European wines. We heard of a high salaried director who had purchased and put into storage the world's largest private wine cellar, which had come upon the market in the settlement of an estate.

* * *

Bow ties are scarce, because they have fallen out of fashion since Burton Holmes broke his leg and ceased to stroll along the Boule Mich. But they are natty in summer, and also useful as camouflage for two-day shirts. By all means, hoard your old bow ties.

THE VANISHING BATTLESHIP.

Nae doot ye've heard the dodo bird
Tae progress wasna geared;
The pace too fast for him tae last,
An' sae he disappeared.
In fossil lore the dinosaur
Is quite shown up for fair;
Nature said, "Nix, ye're oot o' tricks,"
An' slipped tae him the air.

Auld Dobbin, dear, I greatly fear,
Is boond tae vanish quite;
Erased by gas, he soon wull pass
An' fade intae the night.
An' noo we see anither "D"
That rapidly is dyin':
The dreadnaught old is a'maist cold,
A victim o' man's flyin'.

But statesmen sage still honor age,
Flush cash oot in a spate;
The battleship they'll nae let slip,
Tho lang syne oot o' date.
These congress guys we've thought sae wise
Are maistly half asleep;
A million grand they pour like sand
Intae a rat hole deep.

Sirens Don't Sing; They Whistle.

Railroad whistles? [July 8.] I am hearing them again, in the house where I was born, but now they're altered and enhanced by the places they led me to before I came back.

Now they're spiced with the chatter of a magpie on a corral fence in Wyoming, and the smell of the sage and the sand; with the bubbles beneath the surface of the blue, green, battleship gray Pacific breaking against the rocks at La Jolla; with the pine-scented, bracing cool air at Flagstaff; with the eternal roar of Niagara; with the dark, dull rocks and the blue, blue water at Boulder dam; with the brilliance, and quiet, and space of the Grand canyon; with the memories of Lincoln in Springfield and in Washington; with the acres of beauty that color the desert near Palm Springs after the early rains; with the rough and ready gayety of Cody, Wyo., on a Saturday night; with tottering, cracking Jerome, Ariz., precarious town atop a copper mine; with fine old homes on Pennsylvania farms; with that nesting ground of the rival of the trains—La Guardia field on Long Island.

Each day I drive a piece of steel on rubber tired wheels 40 miles to work. But at night I'm back to the place of my childhood, and the same old whistle, from the same old iron horse, has the same old pull, but stronger than ever.

LAMPLIGHTING TIME.

Just where the city slips its crowded bounds
There are fenced yards and houses still . . . and dreams,
And there the last lamplighter makes his rounds
With ladder and with lantern; there soft beams
From old, unaltered street lamps cast a glow
Upon the street in little pools of light.
Lamplighting time! It was so long ago
We bartered childhood's vision for clear sight,
And lost the fairy dreams that twilight told
When down the shadowed streets lamplighters came
To star the darkness with a chain of gold.
We're wiser now . . . but, O, the remembered flame
Of wonder that was childhood's innocence
As the lamplighter passed a picket fence!

Play a Tune for Old Chicago.

Researchers at the University of Chicago have discovered in the files a letter written by President Harper on June 20, 1899, to Band Director Hobbs, which stated:

"Let us understand that at the ball games hereafter the band will not play from a partisan point of view. That is, we do not want such tunes as 'A Hot Time Tonight' when the Chicago team is ahead. The band must play impartially. It is there not to help the 'rooters,' but to furnish music for the whole crowd, and must in no case show discourtesy to the visiting team.

"If this is not clear I shall be glad to explain it in detail."

Why do Americans call the pots-and-pans metal "aluminum"? Because Sir Humphry Davy, English chemist [1778-1829], gave it that name. Why do the British call it "aluminium"? Because they think this form of the word is more euphonious. We are right; but they insist on being fancy. CHARLES COLLINS.

NO "SKEETERS"—NO MALARIA.

ALTHO we know how to prevent malaria by destroying certain types of mosquitoes, nearly four hundred million inhabitants of the globe—at least three times the population of the United States—have this disease yearly. Its ravages in India alone are terrific, and there is scarcely one of our southern states completely free from the menace. Even thruout the north, the Anopheles "skeeter" can thrive. Four or five years ago, Camden, N. J., suffered a rather widespread epidemic. Unless great care is exercised in our training camps, many of our soldiers are likely to become afflicted.

There are now four recognized species of the parasite and each in turn is responsible for a different manifestation of the disease. Infection is transferred from one who is ill via a female Anopheles. The insect, biting a malarial patient, takes into her stomach both the males and females. The resulting "offspring" penetrate her stomach wall, mature, enter the gut, finally releasing another form which journeys to the salivary glands of the "bug," ready for injection into the blood of any one who may be nipped.

If they find their way into the circulation of a healthy person, they immediately seek red blood cells, which they destroy. Another form is now free to enter new red cells. This procedure is repeated over and over again.

The victim, by this time, has a full fledged case with chills, fever, and sweating. If this cycle occurs every 48 hours, it is called "tertian"; every 72 hours, "quartan"; and every 24 to 48 hours, the "estivo autumnal." Altho the skin feels cold, the internal temperature may be as high as 105 degrees. Delirium and even convulsions may appear if the infection is severe.

Treatment depends upon which variety is present. Most experts believe that, in general, quinine is the remedy of choice. But, as with any other drug, some individuals will be found to be sensitive. Then it is that a substitute may be necessary—either atabrin or plasmochin. The advantage of the first is that its action persists longer than quinine, and the dose is smaller. But it is toxic to a small percentage of cases. Digestive symptoms may follow its use and the skin may become yellow—particularly the backs of the hands, the feet, and the forehead.

Plasmochin will not be effective against certain parasites floating in the blood stream. It will not prevent relapses, except when employed in connection with atabrin or quinine. We look upon this chemical, therefore, as an assistant to other compounds. But, here again, care must be taken else it may prove more harmful than useful—causing nausea, vomiting, vertigo, etc., when not well borne.

Perhaps we are on the verge of an increase in the number of cases of malaria. At any rate, it behooves us to be ever watchful against allowing breeding places to exist on the premises—such as stopped up gutters or low places on roofs where puddles may remain for several days.

Just because the Anopheles is not common in some states, we are not free from the danger of infection. But all our friends who live in well known malarious areas can adopt prompt and intensive measures to avoid chronic infections which may lead to a substantial amount of invalidism.

EPSOM SALTS BATH.

A. S. L. writes: Will epsom salts added to the bath water help one to lose weight?

REPLY.

This is a common but erroneous belief. Altho some absorption will occur, the effect will not be permanent, as the water loss will be replaced promptly because of thirst. The result is the same—quantity for quantity—as tho one took a dose by mouth.

NASAL MEMBRANE.

A. C. writes: I have a tiny cut or fissure in my left nostril. What can be done about this?

REPLY.

Ulcerations within the air passages are extremely painful and annoying. The condition should not be allowed to persist, as infection may ensue. Cauterization is the best plan of treatment and various chemicals are employed. A skilled nose specialist is suggested.

ON JOHNSON PLAN: GO SLOW!

Chicago, July 11.—I learned upon my return to the city, that a public hearing had been held by the board of education on the question of releasing pupils from the high schools for the purpose of getting religious instruction for credit.

I learn that there were some two hundred people there, of whom at least three-fourths opposed Dr. Johnson's plan. Among those opposing it were representatives of the Women's City club, City club, Chicago Women's club, Chicago Women's Aid, Association for Family Living, Chicago Rabbinical association, City School committee, and some Parent-Teacher associations.

It seems to me that when there are so many organizations opposing a movement intended for our public schools, it would be wise to postpone any definite action until the matter can be given more time and study by at least a committee of educational rather than religious experts.

Experience in two eastern cities where Dr. Johnson's plan has been tried convinces me that we ought to go slowly in this matter. Our public schools ought not to be tampered with, and experiments which might prove dangerous, or at least un-American, should not be tried.

OPPOSES 12 CENT FARE.

Chicago, July 12.—I am distressed to learn that the rapid transit lines want to advance the "L" fare to 12 cents. This is unfair to the "L" riders because the average rider's salary has increased very little or none at all and a 12 cent fare will work a hardship. If the proposal goes into effect I shall use the street car service henceforth and I am certain other "L" riders also will, where possible.

Thru the Voice of the People I call on all "L" riders to protest.

MARY S. HUDGINS.

IT IS UP TO CONGRESS.

Chicago, July 10.—We hear much talk these days about public opinion, but there never has been a time when the wishes of the people were so flagrantly defied as they are today in the United States. The President and his official followers will never admit their mistakes, therefore it is now up to congress to take a hand and play it strongly in behalf of the American people; congress can save our dying democracy by moving now against every warlike move the President makes. R. J. NUGENT.

PADEREWSKI BOULEVARD?

Chicago, July 10.—I would suggest that the name of Augusta boulevard be changed to Paderewski boulevard in honor of the great Polish patriot and pianist, beloved by all the American and other civilized nations. Chicago could not pay a greater tribute to a great man.

W. SMATLOCK.

NO JUSTICE FROM THE WEST.

Chicago, July 9.—As a native Chicagoan, I am wondering why the great western part of our nation west of the Mississippi has no representation on our United States Supreme court bench. Isn't the time ripe to work for this now?

MARIE C. COOK.

LINCOLN PASSED THAT WAY.

Chicago, July 11.—Walking from Wells street east on Lake street, I was thinking of the many times that Abraham Lincoln had passed this way. On numerous occasions during his 150 or more days spent in Chicago, he must have looked into the shop windows of the then retail district of the city. At Clark and Lake I could almost see his gaunt and frock coated figure swinging across the street to the southeast corner to climb the steps to the federal court. A little farther down was located the Tremont hotel, the Mecca for political pilgrims of the day, the place at which Lincoln almost invariably stopped while visiting in the city. From the balcony of this building, Lincoln had made an address to many thousands of people crowded below.

At southeast corner of Lake and Dearborn streets, I was brought abruptly to the reality of the present—or was it the past?—by the sign "Tremont" jutting out from the corner building. However it wasn't "Tremont hotel", but "Tremont Auto Park," the only visible suggestion of the days when Lincoln passed this way. HERMAN R. RAHN.

THEY CAN GO TO CANADA.

Stacyville, Ia., July 11.—I have noticed that some newspapers are taking polls on the war issue. There is little need to take such a poll in northeastern Iowa since it is very hard to find any one favoring war. The few one does find can be easily stopped by reminding them that any one desiring to do so may go to Canada and volunteer. P. F.

Chicago, July 11.—If 20 per cent of the United States population wish to go to war, why not let them? England can use volunteers. But why drag Americans in?

P. H. S.

APATHY IN CONGRESS.

Chicago, July 12.—Congratulations on your timely front page editorial. The apathy of the American congress to the establishment of an American base in the war zone is more disturbing than the action itself. Congress is not reflecting the views of the people even tho they have the overwhelming evidence of the polls.

J. SANFORD OTIS.

A JOB FOR THE MINT.

Chicago, July 10.—Open letter to Gov. Green: There is one sure way to prevent chiseling merchants from charging a cent tax on a 15 cent purchase: that is to use mills. One mill for each 5 cent purchase. This will also prevent merchants from pricing an item 14½ cents and then charging 16 cents for the item. Let's have the mills!

CHARLES BROAD SR.

FROM A NORRIS CONSTITUENT.

Omaha, Neb., July 11.—Now that some people are trying to glorify Senator Norris of Nebraska because he favors war now when he opposed it in 1917, it should be pointed out that out here in his home state we realize that the senator long ago "sold his birthright for a mess of TVA."

Ever since F. D. R. sponsored the TVA Norris has been his abject stooge. He has forgotten all the principles he ever stood for. We can remember when the Nebraska senator bitterly attacked Presidents for giving soft jobs to "lame ducks," defeated candidates. F. D. R. has given jobs to more lame ducks than any other President and yet Norris has hailed them all with loud acclaim.

The recent intimation by the senator that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself was the best news Nebraska had in years. We only hope it is true. It will save us the trouble of retiring him. A. C. ARNOLD.

EXPLAINS THE EMPTY SEATS.

Chicago, July 12.—No wonder the movie houses are not well patronized. When the vast majority of the American people are absolutely opposed to our going to war, the movie industry is doing its best to get us into this unholy mess of a dog fight in Europe. The people have no intention of getting into this war and the sooner congress clamps down on our dictatorship and asserts itself, the better. R. W.

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago, July 2.—[Legal Friend of the People]—We are buying a home thru the FHA and are paying $5,500 for it, $1,100 in cash.

1. Who has to pay the expense to close the deal? We are buying thru a real estate dealer.

2. They are charging us as follows: We paid $13.50 FHA charges. Now we are to pay for survey $10; service charge $45 to real estate man; title expense $25 or more and $22.50 for one year's insurance premium. I have heard from two home owners that we only have to pay title charge and insurance premium.

W. F.

1. Ordinarily it is advisable for the purchaser to employ an attorney to see that he gets a good title. The purchaser should pay his attorney. The seller should pay the cost of showing clear title in his name and drawing the deed.

2. The propriety of these items depends on facts that are not before us. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney and we advise you to employ one now.

TRUCK AND CAR SMASH HEAD-ON; 2 DIE, 8 INJURED

Boy, 12, Killed in Crash of Station Wagon.

Two men were killed yesterday and eight other persons were injured in a head-on collision between a small truck and a passenger car in Southwest highway at Ridgeland avenue, near Chicago Ridge. The dead were Edward Gloster, 48 years old, 5115 South Spaulding avenue, said to have been a former Chicago policeman, and Charles Mackovitz, 31, of 5207 South Sawyer avenue.

In the truck and injured were Stephen Mandelowski, 30, of 5215 South Kedzie avenue, the driver; Joseph Pekar, 20, of 3356 51st street; Robert Kroggle, 21, of 5119 Homan avenue; John Ahlberg, 26, of 3415 51st street, and Thomas Whetherhult, 16, of 5134 South Wood street. In the passenger car and injured were Louis Kaducak, 35, of 508 Henderson avenue; Joseph Cabay, 16, of 512 Henderson avenue, and Joseph Blahunka, 18, of 601 Henderson avenue, all of Joliet.

County highway police at Willow Springs said the truck was driven into the wrong lane, crashing into Kudacak's car.

Boy Killed; 6 Hurt.

A Maywood boy was killed and six other boys from the Chicago area were injured near Sturgis, Mich., when a station wagon in which they were returning to Camp Homestead at Wall Lake, Ind., overturned after a collision.

The dead boy was Ronald Chapps, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Chapps, 1412 South 6th street, Maywood. The injured are Robert Edwards, 8, of 4025 Ellis avenue, a skull fracture; Leo Kane, 9, of 8056 Racine avenue, chipped vertebrae; James Falicone, 5, of 1027 Aberdeen street, broken collar bone; his brother, John, 14; Richard Romito, 12, of 1819 South 65th street, Cicero, and Terry Kieley, 8, of Skokie, minor injuries.

The boys were on their way back to a junior military academy camp run by Col. Robert W. Coe of Chicago after attending church in Sturgis. Gilbert Graham, 27, of Champaign, a counselor who was driving the station wagon, also was injured. The station wagon collided with a car driven by Henry Groves, 65, a farmer.

Tragedy Near Mundelein.

A collision early yesterday on state route 83, a mile south of Mundelein in Lake county, claimed the lives of Miss Mildred Vicek, 26, of 247 Addison road, Riverside; Russell Dow, 31, of 902 Chestnut street, Deerfield, a clerk, and Harry Lawson, 57, of Deerfield, a carpenter. Edward Muzik, 22, of 41 Northgate road, Riverside, and Allen Frost, 19; Harold Frost, 20, and John Burns, 40, all of Deerfield, were injured.

Miss Ethel Miller, 21 of 224 Harrison street, Lombard, died in Berwyn hospital of injuries suffered before dawn yesterday when an automobile crashed into a tree on 5th avenue, near 26th street, La Grange Park. The driver, Julius Anderson, 22 of 294 Pennsylvania avenue, Glen Ellyn, was slightly injured. La Grange Park police said he fell asleep at the wheel.

Gust Eneborg, 66, of 4232 South Western avenue, died in Southtown hospital of injuries suffered June 13 at 46th street and Kedzie avenue when he was struck by a motor car driven by John Maher, 40, of 3741 North Kedzie avenue. Eneborg was a tailor.

Railroad Watchman Killed.

Nicholas Reder, 62, of Griffith, Ind., a railroad watchman, was fatally injured in an automobile collision at 155th and Wood streets, Harvey. G. L. Linerick, 48, of Corpus Christi, Tex., a furniture dealer; his wife, Bonnie, 44, and their daughter, Patricia, 7, riding in the other car, were injured. They were taken to the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey.

Mrs. Petracias Pocuis, 47, of 1830 South Peoria street, was fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile at 19th and Halsted streets.

Killed Near Plainfield.

John Golobono, 18, of Fairview avenue, Joliet, was killed last night in a headon collision in a country road about two miles east of Plainfield, and eight miles northwest of Joliet, in Will county. Roy Klinek, 20, of 1109 Holmes street, Joliet, was injured. The other driver, Frank Busceml, of Rockford, Winnebago county, was not hurt.

Mrs. Armanda Pietrini, 49, of 514 Armour street, died in the Women's and Children's hospital, presumably the victim of a hit and run driver, police said. She was found unconscious in the alley at the rear of her home.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 498 persons had been killed in traffic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 356 were killed in Chicago, where traffic injured 12,811 in the same period.

Drowns While Swimming at an Unregulated Beach

Raymond Rietz, 19 years old, 2222 Magnolia avenue, a paint mixer, was drowned yesterday in the lake off Webster avenue while swimming with three friends. One of his companions, Leo Kleba, 20, of 2259 Magnolia, saw Rietz go down and summoned life guards, who recovered the body after 35 minutes' search. Lincoln park police said the beach at that point has been declared too dangerous for swimmers because of numerous holes. The regulated beach is some distance away.

U. S. RAIDS BIG BOOTLEG STILL ON NORTH SIDE

The latest attempt by the Eli Frank bootleg ring to resume its rich dealings in illicit alcohol has been checked, E. C. Yellowley, chief of the federal alcohol tax unit, said yesterday. Late Saturday night, he disclosed, agents swooped down on an elaborate $25,000 still in the rear of a public garage at 4078-80 Broadway.

In a large room which had been rented last May 1, purportedly for storing delivery trucks, the agents found five vats with a cooking capacity of 14,000 gallons, 9,825 gallons of mash, and 350 gallons of alcohol.

Nearby residents and even garage attendants were unaware of the activities in the rear room because the throbbing of shiny new motors used in the distilling process was smothered by special acoustical blocks.

Jack Crea, 59 years old, of 1336 Erie street, a cooker, and Irving Green, 27, of 1223 North California avenue, who were in the place when the raid was made, were arrested.

FOREST PRESERVE SONGSTERS DRAW LARGE AUDIENCES

An opera company, a mixed chorus, a railroad choral club, and a junior college choir drew several thousand persons yesterday to concerts in three Cook county forest preserves sponsored by the Cook county board of commissioners and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The Englewood Opera company, directed by Beecher C. Burton, and the St. Agnes Mixed chorus, under Margaret Quinn-Fox, appeared before an estimated 5,000 persons in Dan Ryan woods.

The Chicago and North Western Railway Choral club, led by Harry A. Slater, performed in Thatcher woods, River Forest, and the Wright Junior College choir, conducted by Erhardt Bergstrasser, sang in Caldwell woods. Each of these groups also drew large audiences.

VACCINE WARS ON YELLOW FEVER AT NEW U. S. BASES

Begin Campaign to Rid Colombia of Disease.

BY HAROLD K. MILKS.

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 13 (AP).—An American expeditionary force, without fanfare or uniforms, already has carried one phase of the defense of vital Caribbean areas deep into the heart of Colombia. This is the field army of the Rockefeller Foundation, fighting, in coöperation with the Colombian government, a campaign against yellow fever and other tropical diseases.

Working from a central headquarters in Bogota—with test tubes for guns and vaccines for ammunition—United States and Colombian scientists have made great progress toward eradication of the disease pests which took a heavy toll of lives during the Spanish-American war of 1898. Yellow fever was the most dreaded.

Today, with United States troops pouring into tropical Panama and the new Caribbean Island bases, the importance of curbing "Yellow Jack" has multiplied. Army health experts are striking an early blow at yellow fever by vaccinating all soldiers brought into the mosquito area. The vaccine is new, the first ever known for yellow fever.

No Fever Reported.

To meet the demands, headquarters of the Rockefeller Foundation in New York is pouring out a million doses of the vaccine monthly. In Rio de Janeiro a branch of the foundation produces half as much, and the relatively new laboratories in Bogota have stepped up production to 70,000 doses every four weeks.

No yellow fever has been reported in Panama, the Canal Zone, nor in the island possessions where new defense bases are mushrooming. But health experts fear that some of the millions of aedes-aegypti [the fever carriers] mosquitoes in these areas may become infected from some part of upper South America.

A big problem is the risk that Colombian or other laborers on defense projects may carry yellow fever into the critical areas. To ward off this threat, Colombian officials, in conjunction with the army authorities of the Canal Zone, are requiring that all laborers leaving this country for defense work be vaccinated against yellow fever.

Give 375,000 Vaccinations.

In Colombia, Rockefeller experts are seeking to wipe out the disease, as much as possible, at the source. More than 140 examination stations have been established in danger areas and more than 375,000 vaccinations have been given.

This vaccination is the second great phase of driving yellow fever off the face of the earth. The first was the accomplishment of two American army medical officers, Maj. Walter Reed and Gen. William C. Gorgas. Reed conducted the famous experiment in Cuba in 1899 that showed mosquitoes as the Yellow Jack carriers.

DELINQUENT TAX RECEIPTS GAIN UNDER BARRETT

Delinquent sales tax collections have increased greatly since Attorney General George F. Barrett took office in January, he announced yesterday. Total collections up to July 1 for the Springfield office were $27,019, compared with $2,592 for the last six months of 1940. For the Chicago office the first half of 1941 produced $52,939, and $12,927 for June alone, compared with $8,313 for the same month last year.

"During my first six months in office more than 2,000 suits have been filed against sales tax evaders," Barrett said. "The evaders are beginning to realize that when the state finance department turns a case over to the attorney general's office for collection they might just as well pay up."

OBITUARIES

WISCONSIN GIRL PILOT WHO TOOK POISON IS DEAD

Miss Dorothy Powell, 24 years old, amateur aviatrix who swallowed poison in her room in the Allerton hotel, 701 North Michigan avenue, last Thursday, died yesterday in Passavant hospital. Miss Powell, whose home was in La Crosse, Wis., was voted Wisconsin's best woman flyer in 1939.

Before Miss Powell took the poison she wrote a farewell love letter to a person named "Don." Sergt. Robert McCarthy and Detective William Shroll of the Chicago avenue station have been unable to learn the identity of the person to whom she addressed the letter. In the letter the aviatrix said she was suffering from an illness which would cause her death in three months.

The woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powell of La Crosse, said they did not know of any illness of their daughter. They said she was formerly employed at the Ellsworth Pipe and Supply company in Milwaukee and that her employer was Donald Ellsworth. An inquest will be held this morning.

OBITUARIES

Chauncey J. Jones.

Chauncey J. Jones, for 20 years president of the First National Bank of Waukegan, with which institution he was associated for 70 years, died yesterday in his home at 308 Julian street, Waukegan. He was born in that suburb 89 years ago, and retired as chairman of the board of the First National a year ago. The old Jones homestead was at Sheridan road and Clayton street, Waukegan, and Mr. Jones later lived where the postoffice now stands. The Julian street home was known as the "Abraham Lincoln house," because the Civil War President once stopped there. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the residence, with burial in Oakwood cemetery, Waukegan. There are no immediate survivors.

Mrs. Mary Brattstrom.

Mrs. Mary Brattstrom, wife of Theodore Brattstrom, a building contractor, died yesterday in South Shore hospital. She was 65 years old and lived at 212 East 69th place. Mrs. Brattstrom was born in Sweden. She was local group secretary of the Tabernacle Covenant church and a charter member of the Women's Covenant auxiliary. She is survived by two sons, Paul and Wilbur, and her husband. Services will be held at 2 p. m., Wednesday at the chapel at 1107 West 79th street, with burial in Oak Hill cemetery.

Philip M. Forristall.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., July 13.—[Special].—Philip M. Forristall, 51, vice president of the Stack-Globe advertising agency of New York, and former general manager of the cigar division of the American Tobacco company, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning this evening in the garage at the rear of his home here. The doors were closed. His death was discovered by his wife, Mrs. Mary Forristall, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Hoag, on their return from an overnight trip.

Mrs. Fanny Hoyt Rockwood.

La Jolla, Cal., July 13 [Special].—Mrs. Fanny Hoyt Rockwood, widow of George H. Rockwood, former principal of Austin High school, Chicago, died here yesterday. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow. Mrs. Rockwood leaves a son, George H. Jr., of Summit, N. J. Mrs. Rockwood came to La Jolla with her husband in 1929, three years after his retirement. He had been a teacher for 40 years. He died in November, 1929.

Mrs. Emma Ingraham.

Mrs. Emma McNeill Ingraham, 90 years old, died of pneumonia in the Henrotin hospital yesterday. She lived at 500 Barry avenue and had made her home in or near Chicago for more than 70 years. She was born in Fonda, N. Y. She leaves a son, Frederick Ingraham, Chicago district manager of the American Steel and Wire company.

Ralph Stewart Cooper.

Scarsdale, N. Y., July 13 [Special].—Ralph Stewart Cooper, 61, retired president of the Independent Pneumatic Tool company, Chicago, died today.

Cecil H. Hurtt.

Cecil H. Hurtt, district manager for the Sangamo Electric company, died yesterday in his home at 708 Park avenue, Wilmette, after a six weeks' illness. He was 56 years old and a member of the Union League club and Sunset Ridge Country club. Mr. Hurtt is survived by his widow, Grace; a daughter, Mrs. R. M. Shirk, and a son, Harold C. Hurtt. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. at the chapel at 1460 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

Frederick E. Place.

Frederick E. Place, vice president and director of the Buda company, manufacturer of railway supplies, died yesterday in his home at 1255 North State street. He was 72 years old. His widow, Lillie, survives. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the chapel at Oak Woods cemetery.

Ada Wrigley's Debut Friday in Lake Geneva

BY JUDITH CASS.

SO MANY of Miss Ada Blanche Wrigley's friends are going to be in Lake Geneva for her debut dinner-dance on Friday that her Grandmother Wrigley's house, as well as her parents', will be filled with young guests.

Mrs. William Wrigley still is in California, so she will not be present, but the bud's other grandmother, Mrs. Bert L. Atwater, and Grandfather Atwater will be there. So will the Atwaters' other daughter, Mrs. George F. Getz Jr., and Mr. Getz, who are buying Wildwood lodge which adjoins the senior Mrs. Wrigley's place, Green Gables. The Philip Wrigleys, "Blannie's" parents, live at Hillcroft, which adjoins Green Gables on the other side.

Dinner-Dance Will Be at Home in Lake Geneva.

The dinner-dance will be given at Hillcroft and among the guests will be the deb's younger sister, Dorothy, better known as Deedee; Miss Susan Kovusch, who rooms with Blannie at Dobbs Ferry, and Wrigley Offield, the bud's cousin, and his bride.

Lake Genevans, who hoped they might be treated to a third debut this summer [Cynthia Gooding was the first bud of the summer there], are to be disappointed for Gail Gartz definitely does not want a formal coming out. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Frederick Gartz Jr., and her sister, Mrs. Jack Vilas Jr., believe they may persuade her to change her mind in time to have a party in town next winter, however. Miss Gartz plans to study agriculture at the University of Wisconsin next winter instead of returning to the Finch school in New York.

Miss Anne Harding and Dr. Spoehr to Be Wed.

A western wedding trip will follow the marriage on Aug. 2 of Miss Anne Dinsdale Harding and Dr. Alexander Spoehr. They'll be married at 5 o'clock in the chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church by the Rev. Ross Snyder. The bride's mother, Mrs. Charles F. Harding Jr., will give a small reception in her home in Winnetka.

Miss Helene Harding will be her sister's maid of honor. The other attendants will come from two coasts, as Mrs. John Riggs, the matron of honor, lives in Elmira, N. Y.; Miss Patricia Bolling, in Greenwich, Conn.; and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Hortense Spoehr, in Palo Alto, Cal.

James Brown will be Dr. Spoehr's best man, and Mr. Harding III. will give his sister in marriage. Dr. and Mrs. Herman A. Spoehr will come from Palo Alto for the marriage of their son, who is assistant curator of American archæology and ethnology at the Field Museum of Natural History.

Rummage Shop's Friends Invited to a Gay Affair.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase has written another gay little jingle, inviting Rummage shop friends to "a very gay affair, with acrobatic dancing, and the Whizz Kids. . . . The Bell School's going to be the scene of all this fun. . . . No charge is made for tea and cake, no tickets at the door, just bring us a white elephant. . . . The 22d is the day, the hour is 3 o'clock."

Mrs. John C. Murphy, Mrs. Michelson Maher, Mrs. Kent Chandler, Miss Sarah Hinde, and Mrs. Joseph C. Belden Jr., will be the Whizz Kids, and their "emcee" will be a widely known Lake Forester who prefers that his identity not be revealed until the day of the party. The dancers will be the children and grandchildren of Rummage shop board members. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings is giving a luncheon that day for the committee that runs the shop at 27 East Ohio street and for the members of the women's board of the Children's Memorial hospital, which receives proceeds of the shop.

Lake View Musical Group to Give Tea for Hans Lange.

The Lake View Musical society is giving a tea for Hans Lange and the Philharmonic String quartet from 3 until 5 o'clock on Tuesday, July 22, at the home of Mrs. Walter F. Straub, 1250 Westmoor road, Winnetka. Hostesses will be the president of the society, Mrs. Harrison H. Havner, and Mrs. William A. Wieboldt, who will receive with Mr. Lange and the members of the quartet, John Weicher, Robert Quick, Walter Hancock, and Dudley Powers.

The society will present the quartet in three concerts next fall and winter at the Goodman theater. The dates are Oct. 26, Nov. 23, and Jan. 25.

Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood are looking forward to the arrival the middle of this week of their daughter, Mrs. William S. Farish Jr., and her little son from their home in Houston, Tex. Mr. Farish will join his family later in the summer.

The Woods' son, Lieut. Robert W. Wood II., is stationed at Governor's Island, New York, and his wife is living in nearby Plainfield, N. J. The young Woods call Houston home, too.

The junior Louis E. Laflins and their children are being welcomed back to Lake Forest for the summer from their home in New Haven, Conn. They are in the house of the senior Mrs. Laflin.

Parisian Makes Home Here

[Moffett photo.]

Miss Nolwen de Janze, elder daughter of the former Alice Silverthorne of Chicago and the late Count Frederic de Janze of Paris, is living with her great-aunts, Mrs. Francis E. May and Miss Josephine Chapin, for the duration of the war. Her younger sister, Paola, also is here. Both girls plan to enter Sarah Lawrence college in the autumn.

Beecham Saves Baton Fire for His Farewell at Ravinia

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Sir Thomas Beecham showed Ravinia park audiences a new side of his musical personality this weekend when he presented the concluding concerts of his fortnight's engagement as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Perhaps he had heard comments or read reviews of the "He's good—but O, so gentle!" variety. At any rate he came to the stage Saturday with an "I'll show 'em" glint in his eye.

The first thing this dyed-in-the-wool Britisher did was to conduct "The Star Spangled Banner" with a fervor, a violence, and an infectious enthusiasm which would have done credit to a 16th generation Yankee. To a world that has learned to eat, drink, and breathe paradoxes, the fact that it was Sir Thomas' forbears who were shooting this star spangled banner full of holes the night the song came into being merely added piquancy to the performance.

The conductor gave another demonstration of his vehemence in the "España" rhapsody of Chabrier which closed Saturday's program. Rhythms were fierce, accents knife sharp, tone colorings a fiery red.

And Sir Thomas was at it again yesterday afternoon, conducting the overture to Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman" with a ferocity that brought the shriek of northern gales and the spume of northern seas right into peaceful Ravinia park. His performances of both the Chabrier and the Wagner touched off big ovations.

Not all of the week-end was given over to such fury. Yesterday there was a serene performance of Beethoven's "Pastoral" symphony which was marred only by a passing train as the woodwinds were emitting their bird twitterings in the second movement. By the way, Sir Thomas' famous shushes [by means of which he seeks to cut down the orchestra's volume] blended in beautifully with the various bird twitterings.

Probably the high point of the week-end was the performance of Sibelius' Seventh symphony Saturday night. The conductor's artistic intelligence succeeded in resolving this complex work into an orderly and overwhelmingly eloquent example of musical expression. It had line, movement, and inevitability.

The same evening the French flutist, René Leroy, appeared as soloist in Mozart's D Major concerto. His performance was delicate, fluid, and fresh. Applause and "Bravo's" compelled him to add Debussy's "Syrinx" for unaccompanied flute. Unaccompanied flute does not seem to be quite so austere a form of art as unaccompanied cello.

This eventful week-end contained two first Chicago performances. There were Sir Thomas' arrangement and transcription of excerpts from Handel's "The Faithful Shepherd" Saturday and a Boccherini symphony [No. 3] yesterday. The former offers in persuasive form wares from the great storehouse of Handel's unknown operatic music. The latter adds to the répertoire a graceful, melodious symphony stimulatingly different in spirit from most of the familiar music of its century [the 18th].

AT GRANT PARK

Despite the chill winds across Grant park on Saturday night, a good sized crowd turned out for the first appearance in the park this season of the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, directed by Richard Czerwonky.

The ensemble's performance was up to its usual standards. Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade" suite and Strauss's "Death and Transfiguration" were set forth in the oratorical and grandiose fashion that well suits the acoustical properties of the shell.

Henrietta Chase, soprano of the Chicago Opera company, sang "Pace, Pace Mio Dio," from Verdi's "The Force of Destiny," and the Ballatella from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci." Endowed with a brilliant, richly timbered voice, Miss Chase has steadily matured until she is one of the city's most satisfactory sopranos.

Good Morning!

If you were to go on a man hunt, you'd never locate better male players than carry the leads in this picture. . . . Which doesn't mean that the picture is so hot.

It's an adventure film, based on the novel, "Rogue Male"—a story of hunter turned hunted, timing its material and backgrounds to the period immediately preceding the invasion of Poland.

Opening scenes show Walter Pidgeon, as Capt. Thorndike, a famous British animal hunter, stalking no less than the Nazi's little Fuehrer. . . . High up on a cliff, far, and yet not too far, from the great dictator's closely guarded palace, he sights Hitler thru the lens of his long range precision rifle and pulls the trigger.

Nothing happens, because, you see, the gun wasn't loaded. He had, he explains later, just been doing what he was doing for the sport of the thing. . . . No sooner had he pulled said trigger, however, than he is jumped on from behind and carted into the presence of a high German official [Mr. Sanders], who promises him life and liberty if he will sign a certain paper stating that he has attempted assassination of the Fuehrer on order of his government. . . . But Walter won't tell such a lie. . . .

Torture is his and imprisonment. He escapes . . . and becomes the hunted. . . . His flight leads him into many precarious predicaments. . . . Joan Bennett as a cockney lass helps him out and pays dearly for so doing.

The finale is the best thing about the picture. It really has something.

No possible fault could be found with the work of any of the men. But the material they have to work with is often pretty crude. Miss Bennett overacts and makes you think only of how much better Vivien Leigh would have been in the part of Jerry.

Several suspenseful moments compensate somewhat for many silly scenes.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

We were delighted to find an old face cream friend the other day. First time we met it was years ago, when it was made in France and prized above rubies by women who adored truly fine cosmetics. It seemed to disappear for a while, naturally enough, since importation got so complicated, but now it's back, same formula, same color, same fragrance, same beautiful quality—and we, for one, are pleased as Punch.

A great many women can use this cream and no other. It's a superb cleanser, and in addition one of the best skin softeners we have ever used. The texture is interesting. It's thicker than it's thin but it doesn't pull and it's not as greasy as you might expect it to be. Its color is pale rose, its scent attractive but difficult to describe.

Used as a cleanser, it is spread over the skin and removed after a moment or so with a small Turkish towel or a washcloth. We've always liked to do this, even tho it does complicate the linen situation around the house. We've always felt that the friction of a cloth was good for the skin, "exercising" it in just the gentle manner that it needs.

If the skin is dry this same cream can be used for overnight oiling. Massage it in lightly [after cleansing thoroly] and leave it on until morning. Then cleanse again with the cream, pat on face lotion, and your skin with be gloriously dewy and immaculately fresh.

This is a luxurious kind of a cream, especially suitable for the thin, delicate skin. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Quip.

Daniel Francis Clancy reports the party in Logansport, Ind., at which one of the merrymaking guests, 6 feet 4, was known as Big Boy, while another, a scant 5 feet tall, was called Little Boy. Late in the evening one of the guests, suddenly becoming aware of a lull in the festivities, inquired where the two were.

"Big Boy's still here," said Clancy, "but Little Boy blew."

DREAMS AND THE PRESENT.

Hsi-Wu sits under the short plum tree
In her tiny garden.
[Her heart, like mine, is faraway.]
Her cheeks are like the peach blossoms
Of the third month.
[I touch them, from faraway.]
Half in a dream
She takes an enamel pin
From her incensed hair
[I can breathe it, from faraway.]
And pushes a lazy turtle
with it.

While here I sit,
My head cupped in my hands,
Watching thru an unwashed window
On the campus,
As a baseball game proceeds
In the prairie lot,
And the Good Humor man
Tinkles his wagon bell.

Widow Appeals for Ice to Save Children's Food

TRIBUNE readers yesterday contributed $39 to the ice fund and $34 to the Camp Algonquin fund thru the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. A total of $511.55 has been given this summer to answer such requests as the following from a widow with two small children:

"I'm appealing to you for ice tickets. I'm on relief, but it doesn't quite pay all my rent. What food I buy soon spoils. I also receive two bottles of milk daily, but the children don't get the full benefit of it because it spoils during the night. My eldest child is a cardiac patient, and somehow since summer has started he is losing weight. If you could assist me with ice thru the summer I will be ever grateful."

Contributions to the ice fund yesterday were:

S. A. Poyer	$20
Employés of sales promotion department, Scott, Foresman & Co.	10
Anonymous	2
Mrs. Stella Groak	2
In memory of brother Frank	2
Anonymous	2
Mrs. A. M. Lane	1
Total	$39

Representatives of the United Charities in charge of Camp Algonquin have a new example to prove that the needy youngsters who enjoy a summer at camp do not forget the experience and often express their gratitude in deeds as well as words.

One of the best workers in camp, a 20 year old young man who runs the dishwasher and helps with the farm work, went to Algonquin when he was a youngster. He said he always hoped there would be some way in which he could show his appreciation. This summer, when he got a two week's vacation the young man volunteeered to work at camp for the period.

Gifts for Algonquin were received from:

S. A. Poyer	$ 20.00
Ben F. Greenwald	5.00
Mrs. E. W. Moore	5.00
Mrs. A. M. Lane	2.00
I. F. R.	1.00
I. L. Kay	1.00
Total	$ 34.00
Previously acknowledged	452.71
Grand total	$486.71

All donations will be acknowledged in these columns.

"A DEBT IS PAID"

By Olga L. Rosmanith

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

INSTALMENT I.

Her grandmother's death added riches to Kathleen Murray's vivid charm and fresh young beauty. At last the will was probated and her inheritance handed into her keeping. There was the house known as Lakes End on Willow lake, Los Angeles county, and sufficient money in sound investments to assure a substantial income for life.

Kathleen was confidential secretary to old Mr. Cassell of Cassell & Cassell, New York attorneys. She liked her New York life and the independence her good salary gave her, but she had never really liked the confining walls of an office and the relentless tyranny of a clock. She had a paradoxical temperament which brought her all the conflict one could logically expect where reliability and impulse, staid competence and sharp young life hunger try to live in the same heart. She resigned her job, sublet her Greenwich Village apartment and went to California in May.

Kathleen's grandmother had been another Kathleen in her own youth, high-spirited, intolerant of older wisdom, impulsive, generous, loving with a daring heart and a sublime confidence in human nature which got her into plenty of scrapes. She had grown into the mellow, worldly wise, authoritative, competent human being which is forged from a high soul burned by its own mistakes. She had tried to steer Kathleen on to a road of safe living and fulfilment by the light of her experience. But Kathleen would have none of this. Being young, she knew everything. She dearly loved the old lady who had brought her up, but the two were in constant conflict on everything that made up daily living, from the trifling matter of how much makeup was enough to the important matter of how to choose friends and companions.

Kathleen left the Yonkers house and took her own apartment as soon as she could earn enough, a year before the old lady acted at last on her doctor's advice and moved to California.

Since then she had flown out to see her five times—on four brief summer vacations—and the last time to say farewell.

And now in possession of her California home, she was learning new things about her grandmother, things which stabbed her with little darts of remorse. Old Mrs. Murray had gone in her sleep without pain, a gentle end to a happy and vigorous day. The doctor had told Kathleen she was fortunate to pass painlessly and without awareness, but now Kathleen was finding plenty of evidence that the old lady was very well aware that her time was at hand and had been ready for it. Also that her readiness had expressed itself in her solicitous protective love for her ward and grandchild.

Kathleen kept finding little notes written to her tucked away in books and cigaret boxes and vases and bureau drawers—as she gradually settled herself into the house.

"Kitty dear, it just came to me. Don't reinvest your money. Be content with plenty. The Lord burns fingers that go reaching for more than enough."

"Listen child, don't put Punch away because he's old. That wooden-headed vet will advise it. But you let him die in his own time. Won't be long now. He'll be a whale of a time underground. Let him lie in the sun while he can."

"Kitty, if you throw out my smoke plants I'll sit on your bed-end and jibber at you."

Kathleen laughed out loud at that one and old Susan came hobbling into the living room to see what the mirth was about.

Her eyes filled while she smiled. "Sure, Miss Kitty, it's just like she was still around. The house is full of her. I feel her back of me sometimes watching I don't scamp the corners. It would seem right natural to hear her speak."

The living room opened onto a wide veranda that faced the lake. The sun-blaze reflected from its rippled surface filled the room with a dancing light as blithe as music. It was a pleasant room. The dark mahogany furniture from the Yonkers house was so old-fashioned it was back in style again. It shone richly against the pale silvery walls. Kathleen had had all the chairs and the two sofas covered with a gray crestonne brilliant with green foliage and white and yellow roses. Yellow curtains hung at the three long French windows.

Kathleen looked around her as she folded the notes again, feeling her grandmother warmly close and feeling also the pleasure of her young well-being.

"You know, Susan, it's difficult to realize death in the happy atmosphere of this house. It hasn't cast a shadow—if you know what I mean."

"I do, Miss Kitty. And I'm sure she meant to make us feel that way." The old servant produced an old laundry list from her apron pocket, the back of it scrawled with a spidery writing. "Only this morning I found this."

Kathleen read over Susan's fat shoulder.

"Now, Susan, no blubbering. You're next. I don't hold with black clothes and mourning. Wherever I am, I'll be all right. You know me. So see that Miss Kitty gets around and has a good time. Youth only comes once."

"That's an order," said Susan, putting the note back in her pocket. "And you can have a good time if you have sense. You've grown a right pretty young lady, Miss Kitty, and if ever there was a paradise for youth, it's California."

Kathleen agreed. "And if ever there was a special place in paradise, it's Willow lake."

She was right. It is one of the garden spots of California—as pastoral and inviting as its name. It is a narrow lake shaped like an S. At no place is it possible to view the entire stretch of its mirror-clear waters, beryl green where the trees overhang it, sapphire where it echoes the sky.

It is not expensive and exclusive, but it is not rowdy and spoiled by transient tourists and day trippers. Those "in the know" keep the secret of its charm. It is a place where a few hundred regular vacationers from Los Angeles enjoy temporary heaven, and about 50 families live in the lake-side homes all the year round.

The big white frame house back on a rise among pines is the Willow Lake hotel, run by Mrs. Anna Payson, widow, and Jeanie, her energetic young daughter who is not too tired at night to put her dreams of better living into action.

The hotel began as a boarding house for 12 summer guests. Now there are 38 summer cabins hidden among the trees, complete with kitchenette, gas cooker, refrigerator, steam heat, shower room, hot water. Two seasons' rent has almost paid for them. The tenants wait on themselves. Next year the rents will be all clear profit.

There are eight other lakeside villas within sight of Kathleen's veranda. All have a boathouse, altho the boats range from costly power craft to homemade Indian canoes.

Beyond the roofs of the villas, woods clothe the foothills, these in turn giving way to the tawny scrub-grown flanks of the arid mountains of southern California. Like lions, Kathleen thought, sleeping under the hot blue sky.

Lakes End house is built on the slender south curve of the lake. The hills rise beyond the east shore. On the west shore in view of the house the land is flat. A sun-drowned picture of orchards, walnut groves, fruit farms and prosperous valley settlements. A road leaves the lake shore path at right angles and leads westward to Willowdale, the railroad station nine miles off.

At the lakeside end of the road is the clubhouse and garden of the Willow Lake Country club and the golf links. Five miles due west on the same road is the Gladys Tilton Community theater, called after the silent picture star who left her house for the purpose. A barnlike wooden structure has been erected adjoining the house for stage and auditorium, the dressing rooms being in the house itself. It is rather dilapidated, as the venture is always harassed for funds. Miss Tilton willed her annuity with it, but was too unversed in money matters to realize that her annuity ceased at her death.

Kathleen Murray stepped out on her veranda and looked at the gleaming landscape with emotion akin to love.

CONCLUSION.

SHORT CUTS.

Something began to sing inside Celia, with a faint humming that threatened to swell into a deafening paean of joy.

". . . because I was falling in love with you."

Nothing else that he had said seemed of the slightest importance.

It didn't matter that Val and Auntie May had pulled strings to further their own politics; it didn't even matter that she had nearly lost Felicity's friendship.

She smiled at him, her eyes brimming, and shook her head.

"It isn't Val," she said huskily.

Martin came close to her and put his hand on her shoulders.

"Is it anybody else?"

"Yes," Celia whispered.

"I wonder . . . !" Suddenly he swept her into his arms, bent down and kissed her full on the lips.

Felicity, on her way to a Roman holiday, knew what was going to happen. Myra Sturgis had lightened her darkness, and she had her telegram of congratulation already composed. Sandy said he wouldn't take up her offer of 10 pounds to sixpence against it, because he had no wish to lose sixpence.

Auntie May must have been pretty sure, too, because already she was packing to leave Leighton House.

As she told Martin, when he said some pretty stiff things to her, she had sacrificed the best years of her life to his and Felicity's comfort and was now entitled to a life of her own. If they missed her, then so much the worse for them. They had never appreciated her, anyway.

But there was one person who as yet had no faint idea of what was happening. Down at the Rookery in Tunbridge Wells, Mrs. Ismalian happily awaited the advent of her new nursery governess.

"I hope you still remember that I told you I'm a great hand for taking short cuts. When will you marry me?" Martin asked.

There wasn't a thing to say to that but: "Whenever you like," Celia said with a shaky little laugh.

"Suppose I take you up on that? I mean, suppose a man went sort of crazy when he realized all the odds he was up against, and took out a special license so he could grab the girl if she said yes, before she had time to change her mind? Suppose he had that license in his pocket right now?"

Should she be coy? She didn't feel a bit coy—only wildly, unbelievably happy.

"I think the girl ought to grab him, too, in case he changed his mind."

"Now you're talking sense. Come on! No—wait just a minute."

He had to kiss her again and a few more times. . . . "Just to make sure I'm not dreaming," he said.

"I've got a few days free, thank heaven. I have an idea that's what put it into my mind. We'll go places and have a thundering good time. I told Stevens to repack for me, and you haven't any to do, have you?"

"O, dear," Celia cried in dismay. "I forgot all about Mrs. Ismalian!"

"What—that woman again? I thought I warned you some time ago that you were bound to disappoint her."

"And you were quite right," said Celia. "I must send her a telegram."

"Better wait until we're married. It will be safer," Martin advised.

[The End.]

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

July 14, 1941.

Universal day—Try to think about the whole world family rather than your immediate family today.

Special numbers—I have given the symbol and meaning of the special master number 22 in this column before. The symbol is the picture of a blind fool, with a knapsack full of errors, offering no defense against a ferocious tiger who is about to devour him. On the negative side this number is one of errors of judgment, catastrophe thru folly, imprisonment and restraint. On the constructive side it is organization on an international scale and is a powerful number of leadership.

Patience Aids Children in Hot Weather

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

If it's difficult for grownups to be calm and agreeable during a warm, humid spell, there isn't any reason in the world why children shouldn't find it difficult also, altho they'd never attribute their feelings and reaction to the weather. We are the ones who must do that.

First, keep the children out of the direct sunlight, particularly from 10 to 2, or in daylight saving states, from 11 to 3.

Put the least possible clothing on the children; give them frequent cool [not cold] baths and as many rest periods as you can manage.

Don't give them too many iced drinks or too much ice cream.

See that they eat well of nourishing food, because heat takes energy. It's so easy to let down the bars in this respect when the weather is stifling.

If the children are fractious, irritable and excitable, don't blame them too much and create a "tempest in a teapot." Charge it up to the heat and forget it, and meanwhile hang on tight to your own sense of humor. It will carry you thru even a heat wave.

Chicken salad for years has been a favorite dish at large gatherings indoors or outdoors. Almost every one loves chicken salad to eat, and hostesses like to prepare it, because it may be gotten out of the way long before the invited guests start trickling in.

Chicken salad may consist of chicken, celery, and hard cooked egg alone, or it may include pineapple or toasted almonds, sometimes both.

Roast veal may be used in place of a part of all of the chicken to make chicken and veal or just plain veal salad. Roast pork is good prepared in the same way, too.

Chicken Salad.
[Serves 50.]

3 4½ pound chickens [dressed weight]
¾ cup French dressing
12 hard cooked eggs, sliced
4 6 bunches celery, diced
2 tablespoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2½ cups mayonnaise
¾ cup chopped pickle
1 No. 2½ can drained pineapple wedges
2 cups toasted almonds
Lettuce, romaine, chicory or watercress

Cook chickens in water to cover. Season water with a bay leaf, salt and pepper, and add an onion. Be sure that the cooking is at simmering temerature, not boiling, or the meat will not be tender. Let the cooked chicken stand in the broth to cool. Chill overnight in the broth. Remove meat from the bones [and remove the hardened fat from the chicken broth so that you can have soup for lunch] and dice it in half inch cubes. Pour the French dressing over the cubed chicken and let stand an hour or two. Add eggs, celery, seasonings, and other ingredients, except almonds, which should be added just before serving. Chill and serve in lettuce cups or on any other greens you choose.

You'll have lots of wonderful stock for soup after cooking the chickens. I'd suggest cooking rice in the stock and adding the chopped or ground gibblets and the scraggly pieces of meat from the chicken necks. You wouldn't be using these parts in the salad, naturally.

Some chicken salads are made without marinating the meat in French dressing first, but I think that this step very greatly improves the flavor of the salad and assures it of being thoroly seasoned thruout.

Looking at Hollywood by John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Sunday—A morning writing a col., and an afternoon flailing the ballhiding fairways of Bel Air in a threesome with Paul Gallico and H. N. Swanson, the agent. We try desperately, but unsuccessfully, to wheedle Swanson into a dime a hole bet—and it's just as well, because he masters us both. Gallico says that, contrary to report, he has not yet signed a deal for Gabriel Pascal to film his story, "The Snow Goose," in Canada. In the locker room we encounter Lieutenant Commander Gene Markey, naval reserve, who's expecting a call to active service any time now. . . . Home, sunburned, and dead beat, to an early bed.

Monday—Driving back from the Beverly Hills postoffice to the house, my car shies violently and snickers and snorts at a weird sight. It is a thinnish man, wearing nothing but sneakers and white shorts, methodically bicycling along Elevado drive. His head is bowed and he is making no great speed, yet his hair seems to be flying in the wind. With a kick and a sharp tug I get my machine under control and we ease alongside the cyclist and look to see who it is. It is Groucho Marx. . . . There's a story that Groucho and some companions were golfing at Hillcrest the other day, wearing slacks but no shirts [a common practice at Lakeside, where such bruisers as Barton MacLane and Humphrey Bogart maintain their golden tans, but evidently one frowned upon at Hillcrest]. Marx and company were chided by the house committee, told they must play in shirts. So they put on their shirts and removed their slacks! Seems there was nothing in the house rules making it obligatory to wear pants.

Tuesday—To the Walter Wanger studio, where the "Sundown" cast is back from its location at Acoma Rock, N. M. Gene Tierney is a complete set of dishes in her costume of an East African honey. She says she doesn't know what's in store when she returns to her home lot, 20th-Fox, but she hopes it's a comedy.... And she wishes George Abbott or somebody would hire her for a musical comedy in New York.

Wednesday—To visit Lucille Hall and Desi Arnaz at their new five acre ranch in Northridge, and find them happy to be neither working nor touring for a few days. They have just come back from a jaunt around the California army contonments with the Kay Kyser show. This unit ran upwards of three hours. It has been suggested that future shows be made shorter and I asked Lucille and Desi about this. "The longer the better for those boys," they said. "Why, do you know that some of them sat in the sun for five hours before our show began, just to have good places." They were outspokenly enthusiastic over the tour. The audiences, they said, were an actor's dream, and the tour was efficiently and comfortably organized.

Thursday—From 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the desk and then to the airport to meet my two ladies on their return from Denver. My wife is enthusiastic about this year's show at Central City, "The Barber of Seville," and reports that many New Yorkers, including Lucius Beebe and Jerome Zerbe, were at the première Saturday. . . . Richard Carroll informs me he is giving up his scripting job at Columbia and reporting for duty with the signal corps at Fort Monmouth, N. J., July 19. A World war infantry sergeant, he has been commissioned a captain. One of the privates in the outfit will be Director Garson Kanin.

Friday—To Warners', where Raoul Walsh has an immense and fascinating set on stage 7. It's the railroad station and town of Monroe, Mich., just after the Civil war, and a crowd and a band are on hand to welcome a returning hero, Gen. Custer. The picture is "They Died with Their Boots On," and Errol Flynn is Custer. Flynn says it's the best rôle he ever had and I think he's right. I have a hunch it's going to be a honey of a film—and Walsh is sparing no cost or time. It will be in the works until September or later. . . . Then to "The Maltese Falcon" set and find it closed to all visitors but known journalists. Seems that, the other day, a tourist group was on hand when one of the ladies of the company blew a line and uttered a fruity cussword. Two priests were among the visitors—so it was decided the set should be closed thereafter.

Saturday—A morning's writing.

Cub Fans: Rush Your Letters to Sally Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Any of you young Cub fans like to see your heroes in action?

That's just about like asking you if you would like to have a big dish of ice cream or a slice of chocolate cake, isn't it? Well, believe it or not, I mean it—I'm really looking for youngsters to take to the ball game.

On Thursday, July 24, the Chicago Cubs will play the Boston Braves, and Mr. P. K. Wrigley has very kindly invited me to bring 100 boys and girls to see that game.

Think you'd like to be in that group? Well, if you're a real Cub fan and can write a letter telling me why you'd like to see that game, maybe you'll be there. If you follow the Cubs and would have the time of your young life if you were invited to this party, you're just the one I want to hear from.

To try for an invitation all you have to do is write me a letter which will convince me that you just MUST be invited to this party. All mail must reach me no later than next Thursday morning, and you must remember to include your full name, address, and age in your letter.

Those are the only rules we have, and any child is eligible to try for an invitation. If your brother or chum is anxious to come, too, their letters can be mailed with yours, but you may not write FOR them, nor have your mother or dad do it for you. You see, I don't care if you're not so very good at spelling or penmanship—all I want to know is why you'd like to come to this party.

Don't put off writing, because you might forget to write until too late, and that would be a calamity! The address is just Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Crocheted Carriage Set

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

There are never too many jackets or carriage covers in any infant's wardrobe but, regardless of the number, all must be different. This dainty, crocheted carriage robe is done in a combination of afghan and star stitches, with a soft Germantown yarn of good quality. The border is in shell pattern with a picot finish. The baby's jacket is the essence of simplicity, worked in a double crochet stitch and fastened at the side with two satin bows. Pompadour or baby wool is the choice for the jacket, altho Germantown may be used if the jacket is to be of the heavyweight variety.

For instructions in crocheting the carriage set. No. X—89, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

It has been pointed out many times in this column that "counting out declarer's hand" is indispensable to expert defense. Many otherwise good players have the mistaken idea that it is either impossible or unnecessary to begin this process of counting until comparatively late in the play of the cards. The fallacy in this theory is well demonstrated by today's hand.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the ten of clubs, and South won with his singleton ace. He immediately led a low diamond and West ducked. Dummy won with the king of diamonds and South discarded his heart on a high club. Now the defenders could take only two spade tricks and the ace of diamonds.

Had West counted declarer's hand from the information disclosed in the bidding, he would have defeated the contract. South had bid two suits, had refused to play the hand at no trump, and had indicated that his spade suit was considerably stronger than his diamond suit. Thus, it should not have been difficult for West to read the 6-5-1-1 distribution.

When South led a low diamond at the second trick, West should have stepped up at once with his ace. Then he should have cashed the ace of hearts, to prevent the discard. As a final step, he should have returned another diamond.

Now declarer would be helpless. To finesse the queen of spades would allow the opponents to take two natural spade tricks. Nor would it do any good to lay down the ace and a low spade. In that case, West would take his king of trumps and lead a third round of diamonds, to give his partner a ruff.

Counting out declarer's hand would have shown West that it was imperative to cash the heart trick at once and to provide for a third round diamond ruff by his partner.

Methodists Open Yearly Meeting at Des Plaines Camp

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The camp meeting ground at Des Plaines rang with good old Methodist hymns yesterday afternoon as Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf opened the 82d annual meeting. The tabernacle was overflowing with worshipers.

Bishop Waldorf announced that $100,000 has been pledged to refinance the Chicago temple, 77 West Washington street. He called for the payment of all pledged contributions before Tuesday to meet refinancing requirements.

In his sermon, Bishop Waldorf said that "many of our people are isolationists," but he added a warning that the freedom implied in nonintervention with its independence from foreign entanglements would avail nothing without spiritual qualities which give that freedom meaning.

Today the Methodist Ministers' meeting, which usually meets on Mondays at Chicago temple, will convene at the camp meeting ground.

GHEZZI BEATS NELSON ON 38TH HOLE FOR PGA TITLE

3 DOWN AT 27TH, NEW CHAMPION RALLIES TO WIN

Sinks a 3 Foot Putt After Rival's Fails.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Colo., July 13.—Victor Ghezzi, a photogenic Italian from Deal, N. J., today lived up to his given name to the finish by defeating Byron Nelson, the titleholder, 1 up, in the 38 hole final of the 24th National Professional Golf tournament at the Cherry Hills club. And when you are a victor over a man like Nelson in such a match as Ghezzi won today, you are a champion.

The PGA struggle is a perennial

Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., who yesterday won the National Professional Golf championship.

goulash of amazing finishes, but this afternoon's final ranks among the quaintest in golf history. Picture Nelson, a golfer's golfer who is at his best when he's mad at a fellow named Nelson, being 3 up at the end of 27 holes. Then take Ghezzi, one of golf's front runners for 10 years, and watch him win three holes in a row to square the match and then go 1 up at the 33d. Skip the two footer he missed for victory at the 36th, and travel past the 37th to the 400 yard second extra hole on which the story is told.

Nelson Short of 38th.

Nelson, runner-up for this championship in 1939 and winner last year, was short of that 38th green with his approach as was Ghezzi. Both were on in three with chips that left them equidistantly three feet from the hole. So close were they that they called on Referee Frank Sprogell of Michigan, national PGA secretary, to measure who was away. They were so equal that Sprogell suggested that they toss a coin.

Nelson won the toss, but before he putted Ghezzi asked him to take his stance to see whether or not his own ball would affect Nelson's putt. Nelson did and moved Ghezzi's ball one roll. Another ruling was called for. Sprogell said that Ghezzi's ball could be marked. Nelson putted and slid eight inches by the hole. Ghezzi then stepped up and stroked his ball, which dropped from the back side of the cup for the par four that brought him the championship.

Gallery Gets a Surprise.

The gallery that came out this morning had no anticipation that Ghezzi would give Nelson the fight he did. Not only did the handsome Vic appear on the tee, but he went into a 2 up lead thru the sixth hole and was still 1 up at the turn with a 33, two under par. He didn't suffer the champion to get even with him until the 15th hole, and yielded

5 COAST COACHES NAME ELEVENS TO FACE BEARS

Illinois Wesleyan Star Leads First Returns.

BY ARCH WARD.

Football stars of the Pacific coast yesterday were honored by coaches of the far west whose ballots were among the first returns in the nation-wide poll to determine the starting College All-American lineup to meet the Chicago Bears, National Football league champions, in Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 28.

Tabulators were busily engaged in counting the heavy vote from all sections of the United States. The poll is being conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 263 associated newspapers and radio stations in 44 states and the District of Columbia. The contest will end at midnight, July 29. The 11 players chosen by the fans will start the game against the professional champions, provided they are physically fit on the night of the game.

Morrow Is First Day Leader.

The honor of being the opening day's leading vote getter went to Bob Morrow, Illinois Wesleyan full back. Supporters of the downstate Illinois candidate forwarded more than 10,000 votes to the contest department of THE TRIBUNE. The drive to place Morrow on the All-Star squad is under the direction of the Touchdown club of Bloomington, Ill., which also has the coöperation of Elks lodges thruout the nation.

Joe Osmanski, Holy Cross half back, owes his lofty position to admirers in the middle west and his brother Bill, Bears' full back. Bill is one of the leaders in the campaign to land Joe on the team. Rudy Mucha, Washington center, and Ray Apolskis, Marquette center, whose homes are on the south side, were among the favorites in the Chicago area. Tommy Harmon, Michigan half back, and Tommy O'Boyle, Tulane guard, received support from the Gary steel mill district.

Too Late to Tabulate.

Reports from Kansas City and Milwaukee arrived too late to be included in the first returns. Radio station KCKN in Kansas City forwarded 22,318 votes for six players representing Rockhurst and St. Benedict's. Milwaukee reported 22,749 votes for Don Vosberg, Marquette end; Bob Kemnitz, Marquette guard and Apolskis, and 11,076 for Fred Gloden, Tulane full back.

Participating in the balloting were Howard Jones, Southern California; Jimmy Phelan of Washington; O. E. [Babe] Hollingbery of Washington State; Lawrence T. [Buck] Shaw of Santa Clara, and Stub Allison of California. Shaw was the Pacific coast representative on the All-Star coaching staff last year. With the exception of four years Hollingbery has coached the west team for the annual Joe DiMaggio finishing the swing which netted him a single in the sixth inning of yesterday's second game between the Yankees and White Sox in Comiskey park. This hit boosted his consecutive game hitting record to 53 games. The Sox catcher is George Dickey, the umpire George Pipgras. The Yankees won both games before 50,387.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

WILL HARRIDGE and Ford Frick, major league presidents, ought to do something next year to help patrons of the All-Star baseball game identify the players. . . . Special uniforms with numbers designated for the particular day would solve the matter. . . . The least aid they could give the customers would be to have the announcer make known every batter each time he steps to the plate. . . . Under the present system, where the players wear their own club's toggery, there are as many as four or five bearing the same numerals on their backs. . . . Jack Walter, sports editor of the Green Bay Press Gazette, is gradually recovering from drifting all night in a life preserver on Green bay after the cabin cruiser on which he was making a trip floundered in a heavy sea. . . . Walters and two companions drifted seven miles toward shore during the night and spent two days in a hospital. . . . Baseball fans everywhere are wondering why Jimmy Dykes refused to nominate Ted Lyons for the All-Star game when he allowed him to pitch in an exhibition game in Waterloo the same day. . . . Maybe Jimmy's mad at the league or baseball or something. . . . Promoters of the Joe Louis-Buddy Baer bout in Washington are moaning. . . . The movies, which were none too spectacular, have been killed as an attraction by the film of the longer and more exciting Louis-Conn battle. . . . Clark Griffith is disappointed with the attendance at night baseball games in Washington. . . . George P. Marshall, owner of the Redskins, eastern champions of the National Football league, spent yesterday in Chicago en route to California where his team will train for the 1941 season. . . . Telegraph operators have no complaints about night baseball. . . . They get time and a half after the lights are turned on. . . . Arkansas claims to be the only state which permits fights to a finish.

Lee Artoe, a member of last year's All-Star football team, who went on to stardom with the Chicago Bears, has returned to California to study for a master's degree. . . . Ed Kolman, another All-Star and Bear tackle last year, has been sent out by Temple university to do summer teaching as part of his study for a master's. . . . The colt Phar Rong ran a dead heat with Madie Greenock in a $10,000 race at Hollywood Park the other day. . . . If you'll forgive one of the worst puns of all time, he couldn't have been far wrong. . . . Jimmy Dykes is in the good graces of Cleveland photographers, at least. . . . At a recent White Sox-Indians game in Cleveland Dykes, sitting on the bench, was amazed to see Moose Solters slide into third base as the batter fouled to the infield. . . . "What the hell is going on out there?" Jimmy shouted to Coach Mule Haas. . . . "Aw, the kid didn't have any action pictures," Haas explained, pointing to a cameraman from the Plain Dealer. . . . "Okay," replied Dykes as the light dawned. . . . The much discussed bookie bill, which has passed both houses of the Illinois legislature, probably will be placed on Gov. Dwight Green's desk tomorrow. . . . The governor has 10 days, excluding Sundays, in which to act. . . . If he takes no action in that time, it will become a law automatically.

CUBS WIN, 10 TO 3; LOSE, 3-1, TO SPLIT WITH DODGERS

Passeau Gains No. 9; Lee Beaten Before 35,150.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 13.—The Cubs did right well for Claude Passeau today but failed to show similar interest in the affairs of Bill Lee. The usually light hitting Chicagoans fashioned no fewer than 16 assorted clouts for Passeau, thereby spanking the pace setting Dodgers by 10 to 3 in the front portion of a double header before 35,150, but with that job disposed of Jim Wilson's boys figuratively threw away their bats and the luckless Lee skidded to his seventh defeat in a row, 3 to 1.

The crowd was the largest of the season in Brooklyn and brought the Dodgers' home attendance for the year up to 660,110.

The terrific firing by the Cubs in the first affair caused anguish for four members of the Dodger pitching department but the bulge in batting averages resulting therefrom was quickly reduced when Newell Kimball, a Cub alumnus, showed up for work. The Santa Monica, Cal., lad conducted his half of the party on a six hit basis, two of the blows being delayed until the eighth when the sixth placers escaped the added humiliation of a shutout.

Stan Hack Leads Attack.

Setting the pace in the explosion which rocked Hugh Casey, Kent Wicker, Mace Brown, and Vito Tamulis in turn was Stan Hack, whose personal loot totaled two singles and a brace of doubles, only one of the quartet of blows going to waste. Pressing the veteran for the honor were Phil Cavarretta and Johnny Hudson, each of whom picked off a two bagger and two singles. But in the way of distance Dominic Dallessandro had the field to himself. He connected only once during the 16 hit barrage, but connected so well that the ball vanished over the right field barrier, the wallop doing two-thirds of the damage in a three run first inning. It was Dominic's fifth homer.

Lee, who was sidetracked after six innings of toil, gave up only seven blows, but there was no mistaking the health of some of them. One, for instance, was Pete Reiser's ninth homer. Then there was a blazing double by Joe Medwick just after a single, these two smashes leading to a pair of Dodger runs in the fourth. One run was unearned because it slipped across the plate while Bob Sturgeon was giving battle to an easy grounder at short. Lee now has accumulated 12 defeats against six victories.

FIRST GAME

Hack started the first game happiness by beating out a bunt in the opening inning and getting an extra base when Cookie Lavagetto threw wild to Dolph Camilli. Cavarretta caused no trouble for Casey, but Hudson gave his former Brooklyn constituents something to think about by doubling to right center. Hack scoring. Bill Nicholson produced nothing more violent than a popup handled by Billy Herman, but an instant later Dallessandro etched two more runs in the Cub column by sailing his season's fifth homer over the right field screen.

The Dodgers shaved one run from the Cubs' lead in the same inning, the ingredients being a single by Dixie Walker and Herman's double. Then they climbed into a tie in the second, aided more or less by Hudson, who fumbled Pee Wee Reese's roller after Herman Franks had singled with one out. Lew Riggs was ushered forth to hit for Casey and spanked a single into center, Franks scoring and Reese going to third, whence he tallied on Walker's force of Riggs.

McCullough Drives in Three.

Wicker stepped into the Dodgers' pitching assignment in the third and

IT'S 14 STRAIGHT FOR LEADERS; JOE HITS IN 53D

50,387 Watch Lyons Lose, 8-1; Lee, 1-0.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The New York Yankees, including Joe DiMaggio, went rolling on yesterday as the New Yorkers beat the White Sox, 8 to 1, in the first game of a double header in Comiskey park before 50,387, and rose up in the 11th inning of the second contest to conquer, 1 to 0. The day extended the Yanks' winning streak to 14 straight.

Joe DiMaggio knocked three singles in the first game and one in the second game to run his record setting hitting streak to 53 consecutive games.

The crowd was the largest to see baseball entertainment in Chicago since June 18, 1933, when 54,200 packed the Comiskey park stands and overflowed on the field. There were no spectators on the field yesterday.

A Sad Day for Ted, Too.

Spud Chandler held the Sox to five hits as he accomplished his first victory of the season in the first game. In this one Ted Lyons was the victim of a six run fourth inning riot, after he had scored the only Sox run of the afternoon in the third inning. It was the first time in his 12 starts this year that Lyons failed to finish.

Red Ruffing did a grand job of casting in the second game, even with discounts, because the Sox statistically and otherwise are the weakest hitting team in the American league. He yielded only three hits in 11 innings, a single by Luke Appling at the start of the eighth inning, another single by Mike Kreevich at the start of the 10th and the third by George Dickey with one out in the 11th. Only 21 batsmen, the minimum, faced Ruffing in the first seven innings. The only gent to get on base prior to the eighth was Bob Kennedy, who walked in the third and forthwith became double play fodder.

Thornton Lee turned in another of his fine jobs of pitching as he went all the way against Ruffing. Thornton has been carrying his hitless mates on his back all year, so it probably was no shock to him to lose after pitching 10 scoreless innings.

Sturm's Double Does It.

The run in the second game was produced when Johnny Sturm looped a double just over Joe Kuhel's leaping form at the start of the 11th and got to third on Red Rolfe's safe bunt. Sturm scored the payoff run on Tommy Henrich's fly to Moose Solters. Rolfe, by the way, made three hits, half the total acquired off Lee.

The two games offered plenty of contrast in all departments, including the umpiring. There were no beefs in the second game on the umpiring. There were six errors in the first game, two by the Yanks and four by the Sox, and none on either side in the second game.

The Sox, launching the second half of their 1941 schedule, remained in fourth place, but wound up the big day only a game over the .500 mark, with a three game losing streak on their hands and 13 games out of the American league lead. They also lost their season tie in Yankee competition. The New Yorkers have won seven out of a dozen.

FIRST GAME

The story of the fourth inning is all you have to know about what decided the first game. That and the way the base umpires permitted Lyons to run himself ragged for no purpose in the third inning.

Perhaps it will be well to tell about that Chicago third before starting on the Yankee uprising in the fourth. With one down, Lyons lined a single to left center. Knickerbocker then sent a hot one along the third base

Wilson Replies 'Lie' to Grange in Zuppke Row

Wendell [Weenie] Wilson, athletic director at the University of Illinois, yesterday branded as a "contemptible lie" Red Grange's statement made last week that Wilson sought to succeed Bob Zuppke as football coach in 1938.

Wilson made this statement in a telegram to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE from Jackson, Wyo., near his Teton Valley ranch.

This was the latest development leading up to tomorrow morning's meeting in Chicago of the University of Illinois board of trustees, at which the status of both Zuppke and Wilson is expected to be determined. It is believed that the controversy between the two now has reached such a point that at least one of them will leave in the interests of

TWO SPEECHES

In a speech last Nov. 1, President Roosevelt said:

"I am fighting to keep this nation prosperous and at peace. I am fighting to keep our people out of foreign wars, and to keep foreign conceptions of government out of our United States."

Last Nov. 4, on the eve of his third term re-election, the President said:

"Across the seas life has gone underground. I think I speak the minds of all of you when I say that we thank God that we live in the sunlight and the starlight of peace—that we are not in war, and that we propose and expect to continue to live our lives in peace—under the peaceful light of heaven."

ARLINGTON PARK OPENS BIG WEEK OF RACING TODAY

Whirlaway Runs in $5,000 Classic Trial Tomorrow.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Arlington Park today goes into a busy week which will be marked by Whirlaway's first 1941 Chicago appearance tomorrow, the running of the Cinderella stakes on Wednesday and the Arlington handicap on Saturday.

Whirlaway's engagement in tomorrow's $5,000 Classic Trial purse is designed to point him up for the rich Classic stakes a week from Saturday. Trainer Ben Jones has been taking it easy with him since his sweep thru the Derby, Preakness, Belmont, and Dwyer stakes, but now the vacation is over and Whirlaway will get back to work in his campaign to retain his supremacy among the nation's three year olds.

Eight Others Nominated.

Eight others have been nominated for tomorrow's special event and those who are most likely to accept the issue will be dropped into the overnight entries today. Mrs. Vera Bragg's Blue Pair is among those scheduled to run with the Calumet star over the mile and an eighth.

Blue Pair, which was among those who chased Whirlaway home in the Derby, knows what it means to lead the Calumet horse over the line, having accomplished this feat in the Derby Trial.

The job will be much tougher this time for two reasons. In the first place, the gradual curves of Arlington Park make it highly improbable that Whirlaway will execute the maneuver of running out which was responsible for his defeat in the Derby Trial even if his handlers haven't learned how to circumvent this tendency [as they apparently have]. In the second place, the mile and an eighth of the Classic Trial will be in Whirlaway's favor as compared with the mile of the Derby Trial. On that previous occasion he was getting to Blue Pair at every stride despite the fact that he had gone nearly all the way to the outer rail.

Bushwhacker had been scheduled to run against Whirlaway, but will not go to the post until next Saturday.

Cinderella Stakes Wednesday.

The Cinderella stakes on Wednesday will be an event for fillies and mares, carrying a $2,500 endowment. The day has been set aside as a benefit for the Chicago Maternity Center. The Center will get the proceeds of a special advance sale of tickets and will share in other receipts of the afternoon.

The Arlington handicap will be run for the first time on the turf course Saturday. It will carry an added value of $7,500 which makes it the richest event in the country run on grass. The distance will be a mile and three-sixteenths.

Welyki Sets 2 Records in CYO Track

Joe Welyki, recently crowned CAAU half mile champion, won scoring honors yesterday from Ed Culp, National AAU 1,500 -meter champion, in the Catholic Youth organization's 10th annual track meet in Ogden park. Welyki, who represented St. Thomas Aquinas parish, runnerup to St. Elizabeth in the meet, set a record for the mile at 4:27.6, and broke the mark for the half mile with his record of 1:59.1. Culp, representing St. Elizabeth, was runnerup in both events.

Two other marks were shattered as St. Elizabeth swept the grammar school, junior, and senior events with 132 points. St. Thomas Aquinas scored 49. William Dawson of St. Elizabeth led individuals with 14 points. Alfred Grochowalski of St. Pancratius, who scored 13 points, bettered the old mark of :23.1 in the 220 yard dash junior event with :23.0. Davage Minor, St. Elizabeth, set a new mark for the 220 in the senior event with :22.6.

Bloomington, Ill., July 13 [Special]. — Robert Skinner, who has coached at Forrest High school for two years, has resigned to become football coach at Crystal Lake High.

Franklin and Bivins Head Marigold Card

Lem Franklin and Jimmy Bivins, hard hitting Cleveland heavyweights, will top one of the most attractive boxing shows to be presented this year in Marigold outdoor arena, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

Supporting matches of 10 rounds bring together Solly Stark, Minneapolis middleweight, and Milt Aron; George Zengaras, New York lightweight, and Billy Marquart, and Harvey Dubs, Windsor, Ont., 135 pounder, and Willie Joyce.

A victory over Bivins is highly cherished by Franklin since Bivins beat Buddy Knox in Cleveland on April 2. Knox, capable trial horse of Dayton, O., has refused a number of offers to meet Franklin because of the latter's terrific punching power.

Altho Bivins weighed only 172 against Knox, he believes he'll be four or five pounds heavier this evening. Bivins has deserted the light heavyweight division due to the fact that Gus Lesnevich, the current champion, and such challengers as Mello Bettina, Anton Christoforidis, and Pat Valentino refuse to have anything to do with him.

In his last appearance, a triumph over Selman Martin which stretched his winning streak to 10 straight, Franklin weighed 210 pounds. However, after finishing workouts in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday he said he will not scale more than 204 when he reports to weigh in at the Illinois boxing commission office in the Steger building this afternoon.

Seeli Samara and Nango Singh will meet in the windup bout of a wrestling show tonight in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Other bouts will bring together Fritz Von Schacht and Michael Leone, Ignacio Martinez and Rudy Kay, Dick Leiber and Earl Malone, and Leo Jenson and Ned Taylor.

RIGGS DEFEATS DON M'NEILL FOR WESTERN TITLE

Indianapolis, Ind., July 13 (AP).—Bobby Riggs of Clinton, S. C., trounced Don McNeill of Gambier, O., today to win the 54th annual western tennis championship in the men's singles. Riggs, seeded second to McNeill in the tournament, won in four sets, 7-5, 3-6, 10-8, 6-4.

McNeill was wild, letting the ball frequently, while Riggs hit the sidelines consistently with booming placements. Riggs tired late in the match, but had enough left to run out the fourth set.

Pauline Betz of Winter Park, Fla., triumphed in the women's division, defeating Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., 9-7, 4-6, 6-3.

Wilson Replies 'Lie' to Grange in Zuppke Row

Wilson, in his telegram, charged Grange with being a member of a group of alumni which since 1936 has tried to install Potsy Clark, former Illinois athlete and until recently a coach in the National Football league, as athletic director at Illinois. Wilson's telegram follows:

"Red Grange's statement of last week relative to my seeking coaching position is one of the most contemptible lies ever concocted. It is consistent with Red's record since leaving the University of Illinois and part of the underhand campaign of a few selfish alumni who since 1936 have tried to get Potsy Clark in as athletic director at Illinois and have led Zuppke to believe that he has been stabbed in the back.

Comes to Zuppke's Defense.

"The head of this smear group is Rune Clark, Champaign liquor dealer, brother of Potsy, and a close friend of Red's."

Grange, Illinois' most brilliant all-time football player, last week came to the defense of Zuppke. Grange said he had been approached by Wilson in Chicago in 1938 and offered a job as assistant coach at Illinois. Grange also said that Wilson told him at the time he had obtained Zuppke's resignation, and that he [Wilson] would be the new football coach and retain his post as athletic director.

Member of Athletic Board.

Wilson did not say whether he planned to be present at tomorrow's meeting, but it is belived he will not be there. Wilson is a member of the seven-man athletic board and his absence probably would create a 3 to 3 deadlock on any decisive action in regard to Zuppke or Wilson.

REDS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH BRAVES

Riddle Wins 10th Straight, 4-0; Derringer Loses, 6-5

Boston, Mass., July 13 (AP).—The Braves and Cincinnati Reds divided honors today, the world champions giving undefeated Elmer Riddle his 10th straight decision, 4 to 0, before the Braves came back in the last inning of the second game, to bang out a 6 to 5 triumph.

The second game was a close affair, with Paul Derringer going down for his fifth straight loss as a result of the Boston last ditch uprising.

Trailing, 5 to 4, in the ninth and with two out, Johnny Cooney started the winning rally with a single. Sibby Sisti drew a base on balls and then Maxie West doubled, chasing home Cooney and Sisti with the tying and winning markers. Scores:

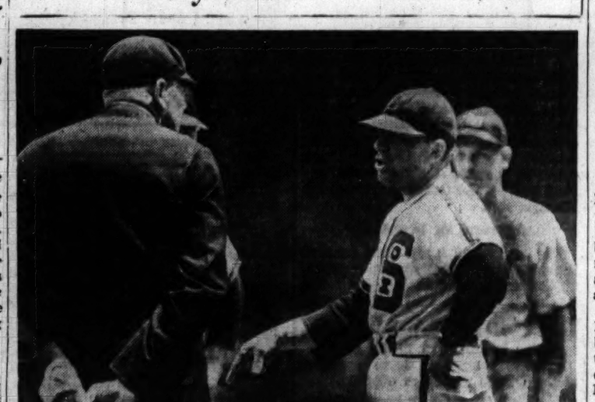
And They Didn't Toss Jim Out!



Jimmy Dykes, White Sox manager, arguing with Umpire Cal Hubbard in the third inning of yesterday's first game with the Yankees in Comiskey park. The argument centered on a ball hit down the third base line by Bill Knickerbocker, which Umpire Red Ormsby at the plate called foul and Umpire Hubbard at third indicated was fair. Then Knickerbocker doubled again, acoring Ted Lyons with the only Sox run of the game, which the Yankees won, 8 to 1. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Cubs Split with Dodgers Before 35,150

was greeted by Cavarretta's bunt and Hudson's single. Nicholson popped out again and when Dallessandro walked, the Brooklyn management decided Wicker would be more comfortable in the club house. Rescuer Brown disposed of Babe Dahlgren easily but his aim wasn't exactly good while pitching to McCullough. The latter worked the count to 3 and 2 and with the runners on their way slapped a single over Reese's head, Cavarretta, Hudson, and Dallessandro scoring.

Brown found it advisable to surrender his job in the fourth. Hack doubled with one out, Cavarretta walked and Hudson singled for his third hit. Hack scoring. Tamulis took charge and made short work of both Nicholson and Dallessandro. Tamulis had to wait only until the sixth for his share of the punishment. Hack doubled and rode home on Cavarretta's single. The latter scored on Nicholson's double. Cavarretta also carried in the final run in the eighth. He doubled and went the remainder of the distance on an infield out and Dallessandro's fly to Pete Reiser.

SECOND GAME

Lee began to scent trouble as soon as he met up with Reiser in the first inning. The young Dodger with the fancy batting average used the street behind the right field wall as a landing place for his season's ninth home run. The next bit of unpleasantness for the stately southerner turned up in the fourth, which Riggs opened with a single, going in from there on Medwick's two base drive against the wall in left center. Medwick went to third on a fly ball and counted when Sturgeon fumbled what should have been the third out.

Hudson was responsible for leading the Cubs away from an impending shutout. The ex-Dodger slashed a single into right with one out in the eighth. Billy Nicholson, held to one hit in nine times at bat in the two games, then popped out, but Dallessandro caromed a two base drive off the right field concrete and Hudson dashed around the bases.

OLSEN VS. HIGBE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 13.—Vern Olsen, the lefty, will handle the Cubs' mound chores in tomorrow's single game with the Dodgers. Kirby Higbe is billed to function for the league pace setters.

After observing Johnny Hudson's batting feats today, Lou Stringer, for whom Hudson is subbing at second base, reported a marked improvement in his lame back muscles.

Chicagoans Lose in Finals of Junior Tennis Doubles

Philadelphia, Pa., July 13 (AP).—E. Victor Seixas of Penn Charter school, Philadelphia, won the national interscholastic tennis championship today by defeating William T. NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

893 U. S. SHIPS BEING BUILT OR ARE ON ORDER

Plan Construction of Hundreds More.

New York, July 13 [Special].—At the halfway point in the year's vast shipbuilding program, the United States has reached a peak in its efforts. It has 893 merchant vessels, of 5,906,795 gross tons, under construction or on contract in ways of the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific coasts.

The July bulletin of the American Bureau of Shipping disclosed today that 634 of these ships, of 2,692,300 gross tons, are steam propelled; 76 ships, of 452,000 tons, are turbo-electric, and 101 are Diesels. The total power of the propulsion plants for the ships is 3,493,777 horsepower.

[Last Friday it was disclosed that President Roosevelt planned to order 566 additional ships. This means construction on a scale far exceeding that of World war days, shipping men said.]

Mostly Maritime Board Orders.

By far the preponderance of the orders up to July 1 have been placed by the maritime commission. Only 86 ships of 799,892 tons are for private accounts, not including the 60 emergency freighters under construction for the British.

During June the most important additions to the ships under construction for classification by the bureau were five large tankers ordered from the Sun shipyards at Chester, Pa. Tanker building, it is said, rapidly is becoming a major factor in the country's construction effort, and the rate of construction indicates to shipping men that the United States will become the world leader in the tanker field during 1943.

145 Tankers on Order.

A total of 145 tankers is on order. Eleven tankers have been completed thus far this year, and about 16 more will be finished before the end of the year. The 145 ships have an aggregate of 1,471,060 gross tons. On March 15 the United States had 346 tankers of 2,000 gross tons or more, totaling 2,543,000 gross tons.

PRIORITIES FOR SHIP WAYS.

Washington, D. C., July 13 [Special].—The priorities division of the Office of Production Management today announced blanket preference ratings for some 20 ship yards engaged in the production of ship ways. The ratings apply to material needed to outfit the ship ways for production and may also be applied to deliveries of portable or stock tools, but cannot be used to obtain machine tools.

Wheat Excess Rules Eased in Penalty Fight

Washington, D. C., July 13 (AP).—The agriculture department today announced a 12 month extension of the period during which excess wheat may be stored under government loan and thereby opened a way for growers to avoid the penalty of 49 cents a bushel on the excess crop.

The step was taken after farmers thruout the middle western grain belt had protested the penalty.

Farmers having excess wheat—that produced on an acreage in excess of their AAA planting allotment—may do one of three things under marketing quotas approved at a recent grower referendum.

Bond Storage Permitted.

These procedures are:

1. Pay the 49 cent penalty on the excess.

2. Store the grain under government loan at 60 per cent of the rate allowed farmers complying with AAA allotments, or store under bond, in the hope restrictions upon sale or use of such grain may be lifted in a year or so.

3. Give the grain to the government for relief use.

Under original regulations the government offered loans for a period ending April 30, 1942. Regulations announced today extend the date until April 30, 1943.

May Apply on Next Crop.

Officials explained a farmer storing excess wheat under loans could take it from storage and sell it free of penalty in event that:

1. Quotas were lifted by 1943.

2. He underplanted his acreage allotment next year by the amount of this year's excess.

3. He suffered a crop loss next year, in which case this year's excess grain could be sold as part of the 1942 crop without penalty to the extent that 1942 production fell below the quota.

File 2,280 Sales Tax Suits During First Half of 1941

Springfield, Ill., July 13 (AP).—Attorney General George F. Barrett said today his office had filed 2,280 sales tax collection suits during the first half of 1941, and that collections thru the court actions had shown a big increase.

RUBBER AND ALL FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT PUT UNDER PRIORITIES

Washington, D. C., July 13 (AP).—Rubber was added by the Office of Production Management today to the list of more than 300 "critical items" to which army and navy contracting officers may assign preference ratings.

All types of fire prevention and fighting equipment also were added. Officials said that fire engines had been purchased for army camps and for that reason were included among the items on which government orders will have priority over civilian purchases. Other additions to the list were hospital and field laboratory equipment and portable oxygen manufacturing equipment.

MAKING SUBMARINES.

I have read that the Manitowoc Shipbuilding company has laid the first keel for the submarines it is building for the navy. I do not find this company's stock on any of the exchanges. Do you have any information about it?—H. M.

Answer: The Manitowoc Shipbuilding company, Manitowoc, Wis., is a privately owned company. Its stocks are not listed on any exchange and are not held publicly. The company, therefore, does not publish its financial statements.

The present company was formed in 1920 as successor to a shipbuilding enterprise started in 1903 by the same interests. Primarily engaged in building and repairing ships, dredges, scows and other craft, the company has also diversified its activities to include the manufacture of pulp digesters, paper mill and cement mill equipment, tanks and caterpillar cranes.

Last November, it was awarded a navy contract for ten submarines at an estimated total cost of 60 million dollars on a cost plus fixed fee basis. The management estimated that this navy order and its commercial work would keep its plant operating at near capacity for several years.

Total assets of the company on June 30, 1940, [latest available] amounted to more than 3 million dollars, of which the plant represented approximately one-third. The company's fiscal year ends June 30.

Commenting on the company's earnings record, the management reported that "the severe business depression hit the shipbuilders on the Great Lakes very hard, but we feel that we came thru the strain rather well, due somewhat to our having a substantial amount of business in lines other than shipbuilding and ship repairing."

OLD AGE BENEFITS.

I have been a tool and die maker for more than 45 years. I retired several years ago and have been receiving benefits from social security. I have now been offered a good job teaching apprentices for my old employer. If I take the job will I permanently lose my old age benefits? P. B.

Answer: The social security board has declared that a person receiving old age benefits may take a job without fear of losing his rights to the benefits. Monthly benefits will not be paid in any month in which the worker earns $15 or more. Regular benefits will be resumed when he stops working or when he earns less than $15 a month.

187 Major Strikes Called in Six Months

Washington, D. C., July 13 (AP). —A government compilation showed today that the number of workers on strike in armament plants had declined 75 per cent within a month. The report said that approximately 10,650 were on strike in such plants at the end of last week, a fourth as many as were idle on June 13.

The survey listed 187 major strikes, averaging 11 days each and 1,144 workers each in the first six months.

Dealing only with war department contractors and excluding the soft coal stoppage and relatively small interruptions, the official reports showed that altogether in the first half of this year 2,458,150 man days of work were lost because of strikes.

Order Harvester Election.

The National Labor Relations board yesterday ordered a run-off election between AFL and CIO partisans at the International Harvester company's McCormick works, Chicago.

The run-off was made necessary by the inconclusive results of an election June 18 in which an AFL federal labor union received 2,671 votes, the CIO's Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee, 2,682, and 206 were cast for neither.

The new election, to be held on a date yet to be set but within 30 days, will determine which of the two unions is to have exclusive bargaining rights at the plant. There will be no recording of a "neither" vote.

Representatives Are Certified

The board certified the AFL's Patternmakers league as the agency selected by a majority of the pattern makers in the June 18 election in the McCormick works.

At the company's West Pullman, Ill., plant, the board certified the CIO union and the International Die Sinkers conference as the bargaining agents respectively for the production workers and the die sinkers on the basis of returns from the June 18 election.

10 Areas Without Lights.

Baton Rouge, La., July 13 (AP).—Ten Louisiana communities were without electric power at varying periods last night and early today and the Gulf States Utilities company charged some of its equipment had been sabotaged. A strike against the company's Louisiana division was called four days ago by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL] but O. A. Walker, international representative, declared that all union members had remained in the city and "could not possibly" be responsible for the power interruptions.

MEAT INDUSTRY DENIES CHARGE OF PRICE FIXING

The American Meat Institute yesterday issued in behalf of the packing industry a statement denying charges contained in an indictment returned July 3 by a federal grand jury in Chicago. The institute, three packing companies, several company officials, and another trade association, were accused of conspiring to fix hog prices. An earlier indictment charged conspiracy to fix sheep prices.

"These indictments would appear to be based on assumptions for which we know of no justification," the association's statement said. "We find nothing in the generalities of the indictments to justify any conclusion that there has been any irregular or illegal activity, or anything contrary to the public interest."

TVA WILL EASE RULE ON POWER CONSERVATION

Knoxville, Tenn., July 13 [Special]. —The Tennessee Valley authority today announced that as a result of bountiful rainfalls in the Tennessee valley area during the last two weeks there will be an easing of demand for power conservation.

Power reservoirs in the TVA system have been filling rapidly during the last 10 days, some at the rate of more than a foot a day, officials reported. However, none of them is filled to capacity. The TVA warned that the real test would come next October when the southeast experiences its driest period.

DEVELOPS WAY TO EASE NEED OF ALUMINUM

Alloy Is Produced from Scrap.

Hytensil Aluminum company, Chicago, disclosed yesterday that it had perfected a process for making from scrap aluminum—such as pots and pans—an alloy which more than meets army and navy specifications in aircraft parts formerly made only from virgin aluminum.

J. A. Tolelk, manager of the company and inventor of the process used in making alloys bearing the trade name hytensilite, said that utilization of scrap in warplane production would help ease the shortage of aluminum if final approval of the company's plans is granted by the army and navy and by the Office of Production Management.

Approval Is Promised.

The army and navy have assured the company verbally that approval of the scrap product will be forthcoming, and have told the company to book orders from aircraft contractors, Tolelk said. Any scrap purchases made by Hytensil in filling such orders would have to have approval of the OPM's priorities officials.

The Civil Aeronautics board already has approved use of scrap in hytensilite aircraft parts. The company makes castings, rods, and sheets from its alloys.

The company was buying pots and pans in large quantities for use in alloys for civilian products until the OPM recently forbade use of scrap aluminum for any except government approved purposes. With both scrap and aluminum supplies cut off for all but military use, Hytensil has not been producing alloy for several weeks, Tolelk said. It has been filling orders from stock.

Turns Down Big Orders.

The company has requests for a quarter of a million pounds of alloy which it has had to turn down. Six weeks ago its production rate was 3,000 pounds a day, and the plant was running day and night. Since the priorities were clamped on, the night force has been laid off, and the working force cut to less than a third of the former number. The only orders that are being filled are for armament.

Meantime, the Chicago commission on national defense is preparing for aluminum roundup week, which will begin July 21. Solicitors will make a house to house drive to collect aluminum articles to be melted for use in armament production.

VIEW ON STEEL SHORTAGE

Cleveland, O., July 13 (AP).—The magazine Steel asserted today that "mild hysteria which developed last week on the part of many civilian steel users was in large measure unjustified.

"So far the worst suffering among consumers has taken the form of pinches and inconveniences, with few cases in which steel shortage has halted production lines," the trade publication said. "Pinches come mostly from alloy steel shortages. Aggravating the apparent strain on civilian needs is the fact that some consuming plants are working at 100 per cent of capacity, contraseasonally, making products which would normally be made next winter.

[Production of steel ingots in the Chicago district is scheduled to begin this week at 99.6 per cent of theoretical capacity, compared with 100.7 per cent at the start of last week.]

"Meanwhile the civilian situation should become better as various adjustments are made. Rationing on part of steelmakers becomes stricter and juster; many less essential products are being abandoned."

GENERAL TIRE'S SALES, PROFITS SHOW BIG GAIN

Profits and sales of General Tire and Rubber company were much larger in the six months ended May 31 than in the corresponding period a year earlier, the company reported yesterday.

Net income was $1,004,442, equal to $1.77 a share on the common stock, compared with $280,562, or 39 cents a share, a year earlier. Net sales rose to $16,391,801 from $10,167,972.

Railroad's New Ticket Office Will Open Today

The new ticket office and travel service headquarters of the Pennsylvania railroad will open today at 16 South La Salle street. One of the features of the office is an illuminated map that flashes the names and departure times of the railroad's trains serving Chicago and other cities. The Pennsylvania's staff will also sell service over the Wabash railroad.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Rainstorm's Damage.

July 13, 1941.

Last week's rainstorm, which inflicted heavy damage on the vegetable garden, also caused a good deal of trouble in other parts of the farm. Almost one-third of the oats were smashed down by the rain.

Fortunately, the oats were not dead ripe, and still possessed enough strength and flexibility to recover. Most of the stalks have come back up, and only about 10 acres are down badly. The farm manager believes these may recover enough so they will not hamper the combine during harvest. When grain is knocked down it becomes difficult to cut and thresh. Some farmers make a practice of using a mowing machine to cut grain that has gone down.

Immediately after the storm, the oat fields presented a strange sight. They looked as if some one had gone over sections of them with a steam roller. The grain was pounded down in large areas in each field, and even the heavy stalked milkweeds among the oats were bent over.

Trees Give Protection.

Damage was comparatively light in the fields that were surrounded on two and three sides by the woods. The open fields, however, received the full brunt of the storm.

The old sheep pasture that was plowed up to kill out the thistles also took a beating. The rain washed the field heavily in several spots, and gullies were started on the edges of the fields. The slope of the field is gentle, but the amount of rain that fell was enough to start small rivers racing down its length. The good top soil washed toward the road and adjoining pasture lot. It provided a good object lesson for the men as to the amount of soil that can be lost thru washing. Experts claim that a field with only a 2 per cent slope will lose almost one and one-half tons of soil to the acre during a hard rain.

The flockmaster has been worrying about a large stray dog which has been slipping into the sheep pasture the last few days. The flockmaster has seen it on several occasions among the trees in the wood lot heading for the field where the sheep are kept.

Menace to Flocks.

Stray dogs are a great danger to sheep, as they are apt to run the sheep and kill them. The flockmaster spotted the dog the other day and took his rifle and slipped out to the pasture.

The dog evidently heard him coming, for it ran to the shelter of the woods. The flockmaster stepped behind a tree and waited. Finally the dog moved out into a clearing. A bullet streaked past its ear and thudded into a tree.

With one yelp the dog lit out across the pasture and disappeared. The flockmaster doesn't believe his sheep will be bothered for some time to come.

80,000 Thunder Applause for Policemen and Firemen in Fourth Annual Thrill Show in Soldiers' Field

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

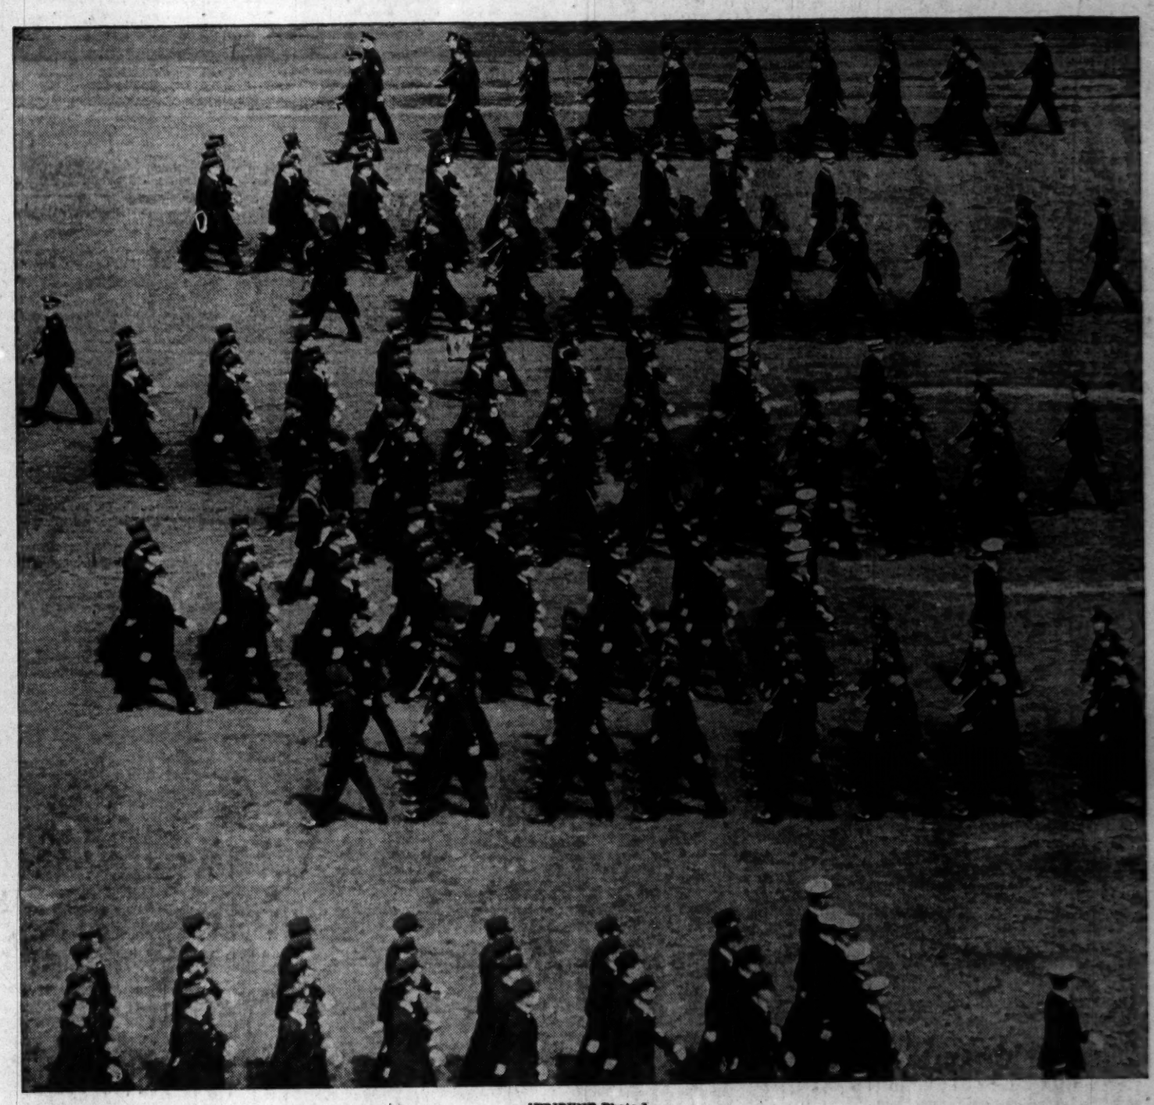
In a fire house built especially for the demonstration, firemen are sliding down exposed brass poles after leaping from beds to show how quickly they can get away on trucks when an alarm sounds.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

This old fashioned fire engine was one of the many pieces of fire fighting equipment that was paraded thru Soldiers' field yesterday afternoon, taking its place in line with the latest apparatus for combating flames.



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Policemen and firemen in a military drill on the green expanse of Soldiers' field, before audience that filled stands for demonstration of skill of those who protect their lives and property.

Five motorcycles bear the weight of 30 motorcycle policemen in this demonstration of riding skill by the traffic policemen. Their act was the result of long hours of rehearsing and long years of actual police work on the city's streets.
